1,589 Proposals Introduced in Ohio Assembly

After Weekend, Ohio Legislators Due To Start Weeding Out

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's lawmakers were resting up today from the most frantic week so far in the Legislature—a week which saw both a record budget and a record number of bills introduced.

Next week legislative committees begin the months-long chore of hacking away at the mountain of 1,589 bills which piled up before the introduction deadline late Thursday.

Scores of bills suggested by state department heads funneled through the office of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle in the final hours and were assigned to Democratic legislators to sponsor.

Exactly what shape the DiSalle administration's legislative program will take, however, is still something of a mystery. He told newsmen shortly before the introduction deadline that he will be able to define his program only after he and his Cabinet have taken a look at the 1,123 House bills and 466 Senate bills now in the works.

A blizzard of 348 bills almost snowed under the clerks of the two houses Thursday. The 1,589 total is 205 above the 1957 record.

As usual, it is likely that no more than 20 per cent of them ever will get into the lawbooks.

A host of tax measures came flooding into the legislative mill in the wake of DiSalle's request for a $2,076,000,000 budget for the next two years and new taxes amounting to 337½ million dollars.

DiSalle disclaimed responsibility for some of them, but conceded some of those not on the administration's list cleared through his office. Asked if these are standby tax proposals to fill in for others which might fall by the wayside, DiSalle replied: "We have no standbys."

All the tax measures DiSalle asked were introduced, in some cases several on one proposed tax.

These included tax increases on cigarettes, diesel fuel and gasoline, low-power beer, corporations and race track pari-mutuel wagering.

Among those he disclaimed were measures to increase the state fee for auto licenses and driver licenses. He also said he had turned down proposed state taxes on incomes and real estate.

Bills introduced Thursday would convert the Utilities Commission into a state department with a the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction into two departments.

DiSalle indicated he backs the Utilities Department proposal, but was noncommittal on the departmental split.

Among the flood of bills were these standout measures to:

Let counties levy public utility excise taxes next year to relieve the state of poor relief responsibility.

Create a state school subsidy equalization formula.

Set up a state college scholarship fund.

Open to cities any tax source not specifically pre-empted by an existing state levy.

Permit townships to levy income taxes against residents and nonresidents.

Create a retirement system for legislators.

Increase the Ohio Highway Patrol strength from 700 to 850 men.

Require school boards to train the mentally retarded.

Repeal the State Bridge Commission's power to charge tolls on the Ohio River bridge between Steubenville and Weirton, W. Va.

Increase rates for legal advertising from $1.50 to $2. A square for first publication and from 75 cents to $1 for subsequent insertions.

Create a legislative commission to deal with juvenile delinquency.

Repeal the requirement that county court judges must be attorneys after Jan. 1, 1963.

Permit the State Board of Education to set a uniform admission age.

Require photographs on driver licenses.

Create a Fair Employment Practices Division in the Department of Industrial Relations.

Close drive-in movies at Midnight and require that patrons under 18 be accompanied by parents or legal guardian.

Require two trials in cases of persons accused of first - degree murder: One to establish guilt, the other to determine whether the sentence should be life imprisonment or electrocution.

Forbid corporations to use funds to aid a candidate, party or organization.

Require uniform state meat inspection.

Gary Valentine Is Winner Of Bowsher Memorial Trophy

GARY VALENTINE

Gary Valentine, a popular student and all-around athlete at Saltcreek Twp. High School, has been named 1959 winner of the Bob Bowsher Memorial Trophy.

The award is presented each year by The Circleville Herald to the outstanding high school basketball player in Pickaway County. The selection is made by cage coaches who submit secret ballots for their top choices.

Although the balloting was close this year, the votes indicated that Valentine was a heavy favorite of the county's coaches. Other top contenders for the coveted trophy were Ernie Milburn of Scioto, John Drummond of Darby and Harry Lee of Pickaway, all top cage performers for their schools this season.

Valentine was one of the brightest stars on the county basketball horizon this year, taking the individual scoring crown in the last game of the season with a 24.5 average.

The slender Valentine during the season trailed such top notch scorers as Williamsport's David Myers, Scioto's Dickie Melvin and Ashville's Bobby Hoover until the last possible moment to capture the title.

• • •

HE DROPPED in 52 points in his final contest against Good Hope to edge out Myers, who tallied 41 points that same night.

Valentine was one of the most accurate left-handers the county has ever seen. He attempted 302 field goals during the year, connecting on 138 for a 45.7 per cent shooting average.

From the foul line Valentine was even more dangerous, shooting 66.8 per cent, whipping through 105 of 157 offerings. He averaged 17.1 rebounds per game, marking his fine bankboard ability.

Gary shot from any spot on the court, making opponent's opposition collapse upon him, leaving his teammates open for clear tries.

Gary was captain of his unit that won the county team defensive crown, holding opponents to 51.3 points per game. Though Saltcreek was young, starting two freshmen and a sophomore, it finished the year with a respectable 8-7 record.

Valentine is an all-around athlete, winning nine high school varsity letters in all, four basketball, four track and one in football.

He is a member of Saltcreek's first football team in history and was placed on the All-Pickaway County first team, though playing his first year of the rugged game.

In track, Gary specializes in pole vaulting, the mile and half-mile. His mile record is 4:41, set at the Muskingum Relays last year.

During his junior year in basketball he tallied 361 points in 19 games for a 19-point average, good for fifth in the individual scoring race during the 1957-58 year.

• • •

HIS TRACK records are on a par with his basketball feats. He placed second in the mile and half-mile during the county meet his freshman year.

In his sophomore year he won the mile, half-mile and placed second in the pole vault. Last year he won the county mile, pole vault and placed second in the half-mile.

He vaulted 10-6 in the Muskingum Relays to qualify for the Ohio State meet. Gary is active in and out of school. He has been a member of the Saltcreek Boys Chorus and orchestra for four years, singing many individual parts and in quartets;

Participated in the County music festival; rates in the top 25 per cent of his class; was a member of the junior and senior class play casts; president of his sophomore class, and secretary of the junior class.

He is a member of the Pleasantview EUB Church, missing only two Sunday School classes in 10 years, both of which were excused.

He is secretary of his Sunday school; president of its Youth Fellowship; vocalist and a group singer in his church; past member of a 4-H Club, and member of the Saltcreek Valley Grange.

Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Valentine, Route 1, Kingston. His father is an employe of Anchor-Hocking, Lancaster.

He has twin brothers, Denny and Kenny, both sophomores at Saltcreek. He was born Sept. 18, 1941 in Pickaway County. Gary stands 6-2 and weighs 160 lbs.

After high school he plans to attend college at eigher Ohio University, Capital University or Muskingum College. He plans a career in the Naval Air Force.

Valentine continues to maintain the respect and integrity of Bob Bowsher Trophy winners as not only being an outstanding basketball player, but active both in and out of school to rate as a top All-American teenager.

THE BOB Bowsher award was established in 1948 by The Circleville Herald in memory of Pickaway County's first war-dead hero to be returned to his native soil following World War II.

Bowsher was an outstanding athlete at Circleville High School where he starred in football, basketball, track and boxing. Although he was not exceptional in any one sports, he was noted for his faithful, consistent brand of play.

The CHS product was labeled average in his classwork and above average on the athletic field, but his crowning attribute was his sportsmanship which was never found lacking. He was a key man in every sport in which he participated because of his steadiness, reliability and desire to win.

On the battlefields of France during World War II, Bowsher showed the same sterling qualities which made him a solid athlete here. One of his feats in France was the rescue of a wounded comrade while under heavy enemy machine gun fire.

Bowsher's supreme sacrifice came July 12, 1944, when he was

Ike, Mac To Ponder Berlin Issue at March 20 Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will open talks here March 20 on the developing Berlin crisis and Macmillan's recent talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

This was announced in Washington and London today shortly before a meeting of President Eisenhower and congressional leaders for a bipartisan discussion.

Macmillan will be accompanied by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and will reach here Thursday, March 19. The discussions will begin the next day and continue for "a few days." That was taken to mean through the weekend of March 21.

According to reports which have reached officials here since Macmillan's talks with Khrushchev, Macmillan will urge Eisenhower to reduce his conditions for a summit meeting.

The British leader is apparently convinced that at present Khrushchev is determined to push his demands for withdrawal of the Western powers from Berlin, and for a German peace treaty.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said the Macmillan talks will cover "the evolving Berlin situation, the broader questions of Germany and of course Macmillan's visit to Moscow."

Hagerty denied the conference with congressional leaders was dictated by any emergency.

Hagerty said the congressional leaders would consider the same subjects discussed Thursday at a 1¾-hour special session of the National Security Council. He said that meeting covered "the evolving situation in Berlin and the broader question of Germany."

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy told a news conference meanwhile that he and the Joint Chiefs of Staff are agreed it would be virtually impossible for the Soviet Union to make a major surprise attack on this country with planes or missiles.

He took the position that the amount of preparation required would give this country advance warning if the U.S.S.R. should plan to launch an attack capable of "knocking out hundreds or thousands of targets in a matter of minutes."

He also discounted chance of any limited war breaking out over Berlin, indicating that if a shooting war actually started it probably would become a major one.

"It would be very difficult to keep it a limited war," he said.

McElroy, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, all of whom attended the National Security Council meeting, return today for the meeting with congressional leaders. Also invited were Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), and the Republican leaders of Senate and House, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Pioneer IV Probe Vanishes In Great Void Toward Sun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV vanished into space today and may never be heard from again.

The space probe tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., lost contact at 10:15 a.m. EST today when the probe's transmitting signals became very weak.

At that time the probe was traveling toward the sun at about 3,960 miles an hour, 412,000 miles from the earth.

The Goldstone station installed a special filter in its tracking gear and followed the space probe for an additional nine minutes.

The last contact was made at about 10:24 a.m.

Asked if there was any likelihood of further contact with Pioneer IV a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it was unlikely.

He added that since the probe's battery apparently had gone dead, it was unlikely that the Goldstone station would make any further search for it.

"We think that this is it," he said.

"Pioneer IV is gone forever."

Earlier the gold plated cone had been sending clear signals from more than 400,000 miles out. Goldstone picked them up at 7:50 a. m.

Roy Anderson, head of the operation, estimated the distance, and said that "never before has any radio signal of this type been picked up from so far out in space."

He said the signal, "essentially unchanged from yesterday, a really good signal," was first picked up at 5:02 a.m.

The signals from America's sun-bound satellite were picked up earlier at Jodrell Bank, England.

Prof. Bernard Lovell, director of the telescope station at Jodrell Bank in England, said the U.S. sun satellite was 380,000 miles from the earth when its signal was picked up as it rose above the British horizon at 12:36 a.m. EST.

Lovell said Pioneer was traveling at about 4,200 miles an hour at the time.

The renewed pickup of radio signals at that distance surpassed the tracking mark claimed by the Soviets for their Mechta sun satellite launched last Jan. 2.

The Soviets said they tracked Mechta 370,000 miles in a 62-hour period.

Best estimates of National Aeronautics and Space Administration technicians here credited Pioneer with having jabbed 403,000 miles through the space wilderness by 7:30 a.m. EST today, about 80 hours after its launching from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Pickaway Tax Receipts Show Striking Rise

For the first time in more than a year cumulative collections of prepaid sales taxes in Pickaway County have exceeded the totals for the previous year.

Sales tax collections for the week ending Feb. 21, 1959 totaled $7,941.57 as compared to collections of $4,185.66 for the corresponding week last year.

The big week brought cumulative collections for the period from July 1, 1958 to Feb. 21, 1959 to $253,415, which compares with total collections for the same period last year of $250,938.78.

Thus, Pickaway County becomes one of the 13 counties in Ohio which have surpassed the 1958 figures. Only two other counties in this area have cumulative collections of more than a year ago—Hocking and Franklin.

Madison, Fairfield, Ross, Fayette and Licking counties all report sales of prepaid sales taxes lower than for the corresponding period of last year.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman for the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said the union will return to the bargaining table today "in the earnest hope of working out a fair and equitable agreement so that we may return to work" at Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The 1,300 striking utility workers began picketing the power company at Midnight Saturday when their old contract expired.

The company, serving customers in 23 central and southern Ohio counties, is using supervisory personnel to man its installations.

Both sides are locked in a wage dispute.

Northern Part Of State To Get Heavy Fall

Iowa Still Staggering From Worst Blizzard In Last 10 Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A vast March storm today spread into new territory with driving snow and smashing winds.

The storm that had dumped up to 1½ feet of snow on eight Midwestern states was centered in Michigan this morning.

Ohio already is feeling part of the storm. Three to four inches of snow were expected in the northern part of the state this afternoon.

A 50 m.p.h. wind swept through Wilmington this morning, blowing over a chimney in one house and shattering windows in several business places. No one was reported hurt.

In Hamilton, a heavy wind lifted a two-car garage some 60 feet from its foundation into the yard of a neighbor.

A squall that resembled a small tornado ripped out a 60 foot section of a wall of the Ford Motor Co. parts plant in Monroe, Mich. None of the 250 workers was hurt and operations continued.

A Greyhound bus was stranded on U.S. 27, about 12 miles south of Cheboygan, Mich. A snowplow was sent to the rescue but conditions were so bad it had to turn back.

Another Greyhound bus was reported marooned between Indian River and Alanson, Mich.

All schools in Cheboygan and surrounding counties were closed. St. Ignace was virtually isolated.

Iowa, staggering from the impact of the worst blizzard in 10 years, struggled to throw off its snowy straitjacket.

More than a dozen motorists spent the night on lounges and beds in a furniture store on the outskirts of Des Moines. One Des Moines motorist required 90 minutes to make a 10 block trip in his car.

The storm was headed into the Northeast. Snowfall of 4 to 8 inches was forecast for northern Vermont and New Hampshire and Maine expected up to a foot.

Another major storm hit the Southeast. A record 9.87 inches of rain deluged the Charleston, S.C., airport in a 24-hour period. It measured 4.34 inches in downtown Charleston.

Apalachicola, Fla., was drenched by 7.51 inches of rain.

Winds reached gusts of 68 m.p.h. on the North Carolina shoreline. Gale warnings were hoisted between Charleston, S. C., and Cape Hatteras, N. C.

The Midwest battled to maintain normal functions amid heavy snow drifts.

La Crosse, Wis., came close to a standstill. All schools were closed. Several manufacturing plants shut their doors for a long weekend. Mail deliveries were canceled. Telephone service was placed on an emergency basis.

Hundreds of school children who usually travel by bus were stranded away from their homes during the night in Wisconsin. Hotels were jammed.

A mail train was trapped in the snow at Maribel, Wis.

A state of emergency was declared in Ripon, Wis., and pupils stayed overnight in Ripon High School.

Strong winds drifted highways in southeastern Minnesota faster than crews could open them. Scores of cars were stalled.

Among the heaviest snowfalls in the Midwest were 18 inches in Wausau, Wis., and 17 in Ottumwa, Iowa, and La Crosse, Wis. Falls of a foot or more were common and drifts raised the levels in many places.

Newspaper Owners, Union Meet Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—After a fruitless session Thursday, negotiators for a striking pressmen's union meet again today with representatives of this city's daily newspapers, which haven't published now for eight days.

The Columbus Web Pressmen's Union, Local 15 went out on strike Feb. 26 against the afternoon Columbus Dispatch and Columbus Citizen, and the morning Ohio State Journal after negotiations for a new contract broke down.

Exactly what shape the DiSalle administration's legislative program will take, however, is still something of a mystery. He told newsmen shortly before the introduction deadline that he will be able to define his program only after he and his Cabinet have taken a look at the 1,123 House bills and 466 Senate bills now in the works.

A blizzard of 348 bills almost snowed under the clerks of the two houses Thursday. The 1,589 total is 205 above the 1957 record.

As usual, it is likely that no more than 20 per cent of them ever will get into the lawbooks.

A host of tax measures came flooding into the legislative mill in the wake of DiSalle's request for a $2,076,000,000 budget for the next two years and new taxes amounting to 337½ million dollars.

DiSalle disclaimed responsibility for some of them, but conceded some of those not on the administration's list cleared through his office. Asked if these are standby tax proposals to fill in for others which might fall by the wayside, DiSalle replied: "We have no standbys."

All the tax measures DiSalle asked were introduced, in some cases several on one proposed tax.

These included tax increases on cigarettes, diesel fuel and gasoline, low-power beer, corporations and race track pari-mutuel wagering.

Among those he disclaimed were measures to increase the state fee for auto licenses and driver licenses. He also said he had turned down proposed state taxes on incomes and real estate.

Bills introduced Thursday would convert the Utilities Commission into a state department with a the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction into two departments.

DiSalle indicated he backs the Utilities Department proposal, but was noncommittal on the departmental split.

Among the flood of bills were these standout measures to:

Let counties levy public utility excise taxes next year to relieve the state of poor relief responsibility.

Create a state school subsidy equalization formula.

Set up a state college scholarship fund.

Open to cities any tax source not specifically pre-empted by an existing state levy.

Permit townships to levy income taxes against residents and nonresidents.

Create a retirement system for legislators.

Increase the Ohio Highway Patrol strength from 700 to 850 men.

Require school boards to train the mentally retarded.

Repeal the State Bridge Commission's power to charge tolls on the Ohio River bridge between Steubenville and Weirton, W. Va.

Increase rates for legal advertising from $1.50 to $2. A square for first publication and from 75 cents to $1 for subsequent insertions.

Create a legislative commission to deal with juvenile delinquency.

Repeal the requirement that county court judges must be attorneys after Jan. 1, 1963.

Permit the State Board of Education to set a uniform admission age.

Require photographs on driver licenses.

Create a Fair Employment Practices Division in the Department of Industrial Relations.

Close drive-in movies at Midnight and require that patrons under 18 be accompanied by parents or legal guardian.

Require two trials in cases of persons accused of first - degree murder: One to establish guilt, the other to determine whether the sentence should be life imprisonment or electrocution.

Forbid corporations to use funds to aid a candidate, party or organization.

Require uniform state meat inspection.

Gary Valentine Is Winner Of Bowsher Memorial Trophy

GARY VALENTINE

Gary Valentine, a popular student and all-around athlete at Saltcreek Twp. High School, has been named 1959 winner of the Bob Bowsher Memorial Trophy.

The award is presented each year by The Circleville Herald to the outstanding high school basketball player in Pickaway County. The selection is made by cage coaches who submit secret ballots for their top choices.

Although the balloting was close this year, the votes indicated that Valentine was a heavy favorite of the county's coaches. Other top contenders for the coveted trophy were Ernie Milburn of Scioto, John Drummond of Darby and Harry Lee of Pickaway, all top cage performers for their schools this season.

Valentine was one of the brightest stars on the county basketball horizon this year, taking the individual scoring crown in the last game of the season with a 24.5 average.

The slender Valentine during the season trailed such top notch scorers as Williamsport's David Myers, Scioto's Dickie Melvin and Ashville's Bobby Hoover until the last possible moment to capture the title.

• • •

HE DROPPED in 52 points in his final contest against Good Hope to edge out Myers, who tallied 41 points that same night.

Valentine was one of the most accurate left-handers the county has ever seen. He attempted 302 field goals during the year, connecting on 138 for a 45.7 per cent shooting average.

From the foul line Valentine was even more dangerous, shooting 66.8 per cent, whipping through 105 of 157 offerings. He averaged 17.1 rebounds per game, marking his fine bankboard ability.

Gary shot from any spot on the court, making opponent's opposition collapse upon him, leaving his teammates open for clear tries.

Gary was captain of his unit that won the county team defensive crown, holding opponents to 51.3 points per game. Though Saltcreek was young, starting two freshmen and a sophomore, it finished the year with a respectable 8-7 record.

Valentine is an all-around athlete, winning nine high school varsity letters in all, four basketball, four track and one in football.

He is a member of Saltcreek's first football team in history and was placed on the All-Pickaway County first team, though playing his first year of the rugged game.

In track, Gary specializes in pole vaulting, the mile and half-mile. His mile record is 4:41, set at the Muskingum Relays last year.

During his junior year in basketball he tallied 361 points in 19 games for a 19-point average, good for fifth in the individual scoring race during the 1957-58 year.

• • •

HIS TRACK records are on a par with his basketball feats. He placed second in the mile and half-mile during the county meet his freshman year.

In his sophomore year he won the mile, half-mile and placed second in the pole vault. Last year he won the county mile, pole vault and placed second in the half-mile.

He vaulted 10-6 in the Muskingum Relays to qualify for the Ohio State meet. Gary is active in and out of school. He has been a member of the Saltcreek Boys Chorus and orchestra for four years, singing many individual parts and in quartets;

Participated in the County music festival; rates in the top 25 per cent of his class; was a member of the junior and senior class play casts; president of his sophomore class, and secretary of the junior class.

He is a member of the Pleasantview EUB Church, missing only two Sunday School classes in 10 years, both of which were excused.

He is secretary of his Sunday school; president of its Youth Fellowship; vocalist and a group singer in his church; past member of a 4-H Club, and member of the Saltcreek Valley Grange.

Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Valentine, Route 1, Kingston. His father is an employe of Anchor-Hocking, Lancaster.

He has twin brothers, Denny and Kenny, both sophomores at Saltcreek. He was born Sept. 18, 1941 in Pickaway County. Gary stands 6-2 and weighs 160 lbs.

After high school he plans to attend college at eigher Ohio University, Capital University or Muskingum College. He plans a career in the Naval Air Force.

Valentine continues to maintain the respect and integrity of Bob Bowsher Trophy winners as not only being an outstanding basketball player, but active both in and out of school to rate as a top All-American teenager.

THE BOB Bowsher award was established in 1948 by The Circleville Herald in memory of Pickaway County's first war-dead hero to be returned to his native soil following World War II.

Bowsher was an outstanding athlete at Circleville High School where he starred in football, basketball, track and boxing. Although he was not exceptional in any one sports, he was noted for his faithful, consistent brand of play.

The CHS product was labeled average in his classwork and above average on the athletic field, but his crowning attribute was his sportsmanship which was never found lacking. He was a key man in every sport in which he participated because of his steadiness, reliability and desire to win.

On the battlefields of France during World War II, Bowsher showed the same sterling qualities which made him a solid athlete here. One of his feats in France was the rescue of a wounded comrade while under heavy enemy machine gun fire.

Bowsher's supreme sacrifice came July 12, 1944, when he was

Ike, Mac To Ponder Berlin Issue at March 20 Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will open talks here March 20 on the developing Berlin crisis and Macmillan's recent talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

This was announced in Washington and London today shortly before a meeting of President Eisenhower and congressional leaders for a bipartisan discussion.

Macmillan will be accompanied by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and will reach here Thursday, March 19. The discussions will begin the next day and continue for "a few days." That was taken to mean through the weekend of March 21.

According to reports which have reached officials here since Macmillan's talks with Khrushchev, Macmillan will urge Eisenhower to reduce his conditions for a summit meeting.

The British leader is apparently convinced that at present Khrushchev is determined to push his demands for withdrawal of the Western powers from Berlin, and for a German peace treaty.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said the Macmillan talks will cover "the evolving Berlin situation, the broader questions of Germany and of course Macmillan's visit to Moscow."

Hagerty denied the conference with congressional leaders was dictated by any emergency.

Hagerty said the congressional leaders would consider the same subjects discussed Thursday at a 1¾-hour special session of the National Security Council. He said that meeting covered "the evolving situation in Berlin and the broader question of Germany."

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy told a news conference meanwhile that he and the Joint Chiefs of Staff are agreed it would be virtually impossible for the Soviet Union to make a major surprise attack on this country with planes or missiles.

He took the position that the amount of preparation required would give this country advance warning if the U.S.S.R. should plan to launch an attack capable of "knocking out hundreds or thousands of targets in a matter of minutes."

He also discounted chance of any limited war breaking out over Berlin, indicating that if a shooting war actually started it probably would become a major one.

"It would be very difficult to keep it a limited war," he said.

McElroy, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, all of whom attended the National Security Council meeting, return today for the meeting with congressional leaders. Also invited were Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), and the Republican leaders of Senate and House, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Pioneer IV Probe Vanishes In Great Void Toward Sun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV vanished into space today and may never be heard from again.

The space probe tracking station at Gbldstone, Calif., lost contact at 10:15 a.m. EST today when the probe's transmitting signals became very weak.

At that time the probe was traveling toward the sun at about 3,960 miles an hour, 412,000 miles from the earth.

The Goldstone station installed a special filter in its tracking gear and followed the space probe for an additional nine minutes.

The last contact was made at about 10:24 a.m.

Asked if there was any likelihood of further contact with Pioneer IV a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it was unlikely.

He added that since the probe's battery apparently had gone dead, it was unlikely that the Goldstone station would make any further search for it.

"We think that this is it," he said.

"Pioneer IV is gone forever."

Earlier the gold plated cone had been sending clear signals from more than 400,000 miles out. Goldstone picked them up at 7:50 a. m.

Roy Anderson, head of the operation, estimated the distance, and said that "never before has any radio signal of this type been picked up from so far out in space."

He said the signal, "essentially unchanged from yesterday, a really good signal," was first picked up at 5:02 a.m.

The signals from America's sun-bound satellite were picked up earlier at Jodrell Bank, England.

Prof. Bernard Lovell, director of the telescope station at Jodrell Bank in England, said the U.S. sun satellite was 380,000 miles from the earth when its signal was picked up as it rose above the British horizon at 12:36 a.m. EST.

Lovell said Pioneer was traveling at about 4,200 miles an hour at the time.

The renewed pickup of radio signals at that distance surpassed the tracking mark claimed by the Soviets for their Mechta sun satellite launched last Jan. 2.

The Soviets said they tracked Mechta 370,000 miles in a 62-hour period.

Best estimates of National Aeronautics and Space Administration technicians here credited Pioneer with having jabbed 403,000 miles through the space wilderness by 7:30 a.m. EST today, about 80 hours after its launching from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Pickaway Tax Receipts Show Striking Rise

For the first time in more than a year cumulative collections of prepaid sales taxes in Pickaway County have exceeded the totals for the previous year.

Sales tax collections for the week ending Feb. 21, 1959 totaled $7,941.57 as compared to collections of $4,185.66 for the corresponding week last year.

The big week brought cumulative collections for the period from July 1, 1958 to Feb. 21, 1959 to $253,415, which compares with total collections for the same period last year of $250,938.78.

Thus, Pickaway County becomes one of the 13 counties in Ohio which have surpassed the 1958 figures. Only two other counties in this area have cumulative collections of more than a year ago—Hocking and Franklin.

Madison, Fairfield, Ross, Fayette and Licking counties all report sales of prepaid sales taxes lower than for the corresponding period of last year.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman for the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said the union will return to the bargaining table today "in the earnest hope of working out a fair and equitable agreement so that we may return to work" at Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The 1,300 striking utility workers began picketing the power company at Midnight Saturday when their old contract expired.

The company, serving customers in 23 central and southern Ohio counties, is using supervisory personnel to man its installations.

Both sides are locked in a wage dispute.

Northern Part Of State To Get Heavy Fall

Iowa Still Staggering From Worst Blizzard In Last 10 Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A vast March storm today spread into new territory with driving snow and smashing winds.

The storm that had dumped up to 1½ feet of snow on eight Midwestern states was centered in Michigan this morning.

Ohio already is feeling part of the storm. Three to four inches of snow were expected in the northern part of the state this afternoon.

A 50 m.p.h. wind swept through Wilmington this morning, blowing over a chimney in one house and shattering windows in several business places. No one was reported hurt.

In Hamilton, a heavy wind lifted a two-car garage some 60 feet from its foundation into the yard of a neighbor.

A Greyhound bus was stranded on U.S. 27, about 12 miles south of Cheboygan, Mich. A snowplow was sent to the rescue but conditions were so bad it had to turn back.

Another Greyhound bus was reported marooned between Indian River and Alanson, Mich.

All schools in Cheboygan and surrounding counties were closed. St. Ignace was virtually isolated.

Iowa, staggering from the impact of the worst blizzard in 10 years, struggled to throw off its snowy straitjacket.

More than a dozen motorists spent the night on lounges and beds in a furniture store on the outskirts of Des Moines. One Des Moines motorist required 90 minutes to make a 10 block trip in his car.

The storm was headed into the Northeast. Snowfall of 4 to 8 inches was forecast for northern Vermont and New Hampshire and Maine expected up to a foot.

Another major storm hit the Southeast. A record 9.87 inches of rain deluged the Charleston, S.C., airport in a 24-hour period. It measured 4.34 inches in downtown Charleston.

Apalachicola, Fla., was drenched by 7.51 inches of rain.

Winds reached gusts of 68 m.p.h. on the North Carolina shoreline. Gale warnings were hoisted between Charleston, S. C., and Cape Hatteras, N. C.

The Midwest battled to maintain normal functions amid heavy snow drifts.

La Crosse, Wis., came close to a standstill. All schools were closed. Several manufacturing plants shut their doors for a long weekend. Mail deliveries were canceled. Telephone service was placed on an emergency basis.

Hundreds of school children who usually travel by bus were stranded away from their homes during the night in Wisconsin. Hotels were jammed.

A mail train was trapped in the snow at Maribel, Wis.

A state of emergency was declared in Ripon, Wis., and pupils stayed overnight in Ripon High School.

Strong winds drifted highways in southeastern Minnesota faster than crews could open them. Scores of cars were stalled.

Among the heaviest snowfalls in the Midwest were 18 inches in Wausau, Wis., and 17 in Ottumwa, Iowa, and La Crosse, Wis. Falls of a foot or more were common and drifts raised the levels in many places.

Newspaper Owners, Union Meet Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—After a fruitless session Thursday, negotiators for a striking pressmen's union meet again today with representatives of this city's daily newspapers, which haven't published now for eight days.

The Columbus Web Pressmen's Union, Local 15 went out on strike Feb. 26 against the afternoon Columbus Dispatch and Columbus Citizen, and the morning Ohio State Journal after negotiations for a new contract broke down.

GM-DuPont Case Recesses

Defense Witnesses Due on March 16

CHICAGO (AP)—The Du Pont-General Motors antitrust case was in adjournment today until March 16 as the government completed testimony after hearings lasting nearly three weeks.

The government, seeking for 10 years in legal battles to divest the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. of 63 million shares of General Motors Corp. common stock, rested its case Thursday.

Defense witnesses will be called when the hearings are resumed before Judge Walter J. LaBuy in U.S. District Court.

The current round in the long legal fight stems from a 1957 Supreme Court ruling that Du Pont holdings in GM—23 per cent—constitute a tendency toward monopoly and was a violation of the Clayton Antitrust Act. The court directed LaBuy to order "equitable relief necessary and appropriate in the public interest."

The government has proposed that 20 million shares of GM stock be sold on the open market over a 10-year period with the remaining 43 million shares be distributed to individual Du Pont stockholders on a prorated basis.

The defense lawyers contend the government plan would depress GM and Du Pont stock prices on the market. They propose, as an alternate, Du Pont retain its GM stock but pass on voting rights to individual stockholders.

The government has been trying to break up Du Pont since 1949 when it filed a suit accusing Du Pont of a virtual monopoly in supplying GM automotive finishes and fabrics.

The government accused Du Pont of exerting pressure on GM through Du Pont's vast stock holdings in the automobile firm. These shares held by Du Pont and two holding companies, Christiana Securities Co. and Delaware Realty & Investment Co., comprise about 23 per cent of GM's total outstanding shares.

Harold Miller, commercial manager for the local General exchange, said the regular work day usually ends at 5 p. m. for repairmen, but one man will work to 7 p. m. for late-in-the-day phone troubles. He said that later this summer the probabilities are that the man will work until 8 or 8:30 p. m.

U.S. Toymakers Help in Race Against Ivan

Uncle Sam's Gadgets Carry Educational Tag More and More

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Toymakers are coming to the aid of Uncle Sam today in his race with Ivan to turn the young into scientists.

Educators and industrial experts help make the toys authentic and instructive as well as fun. The goal is to ease the young mind into the atomic and space age as a few years back toy makers began teaching little girls how to become homemakers by the introduction of the diaper doll and the toy kitchen.

Nuclear, jet and radar type toys range from those that just look like or simulate the action of the latest military and commercial marvels to scale reproductions and kits designed to teach the young (and maybe their parents) how such marvels are made and perform.

At the 56th annual Toy Fair sponsored here next week by the toy manufacturers of the U. S., Revell Inc. of Venice, Calif., will show three new plastic scale model kits. They reveal to the youngster at home or in the classroom the history and workings of atomic energy.

One is the Westinghouse atomic electric power plant, an 18 inch square replica of atomic electric generating stations the electronics firm is building for the Yankee Atomic Electric Co. at Rowe, Mass., and for a Belgian utility group near Brussels.

The same West Coast toy firm has a replica of the U. S. submarine George Washington, scaled from General Dynamics' blueprints, including a model of its atomic power plant. The toy's launching tubes can fire a simulated polaris guided missile, like the original sub.

The third kit is an 18½ inch scale model of the nuclear surface ship Savannah, to be launched in May at Camden, N. J., by the Atomic Energy Commission and the U. S. Maritime Administration.

Educators are taking an interest in the more complicated nuclear model kits of classroom work, according to Dr. William E. Shoupp, technical director of the Westinghouse atomic power department, Pittsburgh.

He holds: "They give students a basic insight of nuclear science and should encourage further investigation and study in this relatively new field of science. The mere assembling of a plastic kit can, and does, act as a stimulant to the builder."

LUMPS FROM APIS MELLIFERA

Most people avoid bees—for obvious reasons. Rheumatism sufferers of old, however, tried to get stung. They thought bee stings were an effective treatment for rheumatism. Now most of us prefer the more reliable—and painless—remedies of today. Thanks to medical science we have many safe, fast-acting pain relievers. Other powerful drugs, too. When you're ill, take advantage of these newer medications—but only upon the advice of your physician. Then let us render complete prescription service.

Sticky Toilet Seat Story Finally Admitted To Be Hoax

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Everybody has to set the record straight once in a while.

So here goes.

A few weeks ago there was a funny story about a baby sitter who got stuck on the job—because her employers forgot to tell her they had just painted the toilet seat.

Fun is fun, but it turns out that this bit of imaginary humor apparently has had the greatest workout in the history of indoor plumbing. It has been tossed around the world for years.

This week the insurance man responsible for the latest revival —and who claimed it actually happened—did a little record-straightening in the matter.

The St. Paul Dispatch, which published the original story after the insurance man vouched for its truth, conducted two subsequent investigations and came to the conclusion the tale was fiction. The paper printed a second story expressing skepticism.

The insurance man, however, still sticks to the story as firmly as the baby sitter reportedly did to the toilet seat, although he now attributes it to a friend who attributes it to another friend and so on.

Similar efforts at pursuit over the years also left everyone winded.

At any rate, while it was still going, the latest edition of the aging yarn stirred up a good many new chuckles across the country.

The Dispatch's Jan. 23 story carried this headline: "Baby Sitter Unwillingly Stuck To Her Job." A note proclaimed the account to be true but with names omitted "to protect the injured."

The Associated Press checked the insurance man who had related it to the newspaper. He stoutly vouched for its accuracy. The AP distributed the story on its nationwide wires.

Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver Post, remembered that one of his reporters tried to pin down a similar story about 25 years ago while he was managing editor of the Portland Oregonian.

From Charles Nichols, news editor of the Toronto Telegram, came word that his wife read of a similar incident in a novel the very day the latest version was published here.

• • •

Clerical work will be hanlled by Women's Auxiliary. Doctors and nurses will do the examinations and give the shots. All work will be voluntary.

Space for the clinic has been provided by the hospital. Some equipment has been donated and more is needed. About $500 is sought for equipment and supplies in order to maintain the program.

The clinic will be open, by appointment only, the second Wednesday of every month.

U.S. Toymakers Help in Race Against Ivan

Uncle Sam's Gadgets Carry Educational Tag More and More

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Toymakers are coming to the aid of Uncle Sam today in his race with Ivan to turn the young into scientists.

Educators and industrial experts help make the toys authentic and instructive as well as fun. The goal is to ease the young mind into the atomic and space age as a few years back toy makers began teaching little girls how to become homemakers by the introduction of the diaper doll and the toy kitchen.

Nuclear, jet and radar type toys range from those that just look like or simulate the action of the latest military and commercial marvels to scale reproductions and kits designed to teach the young (and maybe their parents) how such marvels are made and perform.

At the 56th annual Toy Fair sponsored here next week by the toy manufacturers of the U. S., Revell Inc. of Venice, Calif., will show three new plastic scale model kits. They reveal to the youngster at home or in the classroom the history and workings of atomic energy.

One is the Westinghouse atomic electric power plant, an 18 inch square replica of atomic electric generating stations the electronics firm is building for the Yankee Atomic Electric Co. at Rowe, Mass., and for a Belgian utility group near Brussels.

The same West Coast toy firm has a replica of the U. S. submarine George Washington, scaled from General Dynamics' blueprints, including a model of its atomic power plant. The toy's launching tubes can fire a simulated polaris guided missile, like the original sub.

The third kit is an 18½ inch scale model of the nuclear surface ship Savannah, to be launched in May at Camden, N. J., by the Atomic Energy Commission and the U. S. Maritime Administration.

Educators are taking an interest in the more complicated nuclear model kits of classroom work, according to Dr. William E. Shoupp, technical director of the Westinghouse atomic power department, Pittsburgh.

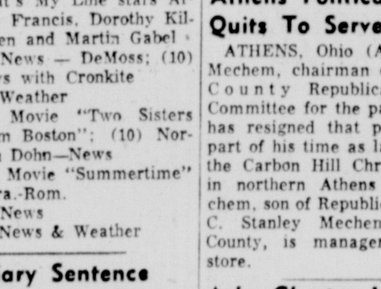

He holds: "They give students a basic insight of nuclear science and should encourage further investigation and study in this relatively new field of science. The mere assembling of a plastic kit can, and does, act as a stimulant to the builder."

Sticky Toilet Seat Story Finally Admitted To Be Hoax

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Everybody has to set the record straight once in a while.

So here goes.

A few weeks ago there was a funny story about a baby sitter who got stuck on the job—because her employers forgot to tell her they had just painted the toilet seat.

Fun is fun, but it turns out that this bit of imaginary humor apparently has had the greatest workout in the history of indoor plumbing. It has been tossed around the world for years.

This week the insurance man responsible for the latest revival —and who claimed it actually happened—did a little record-straightening in the matter.

The St. Paul Dispatch, which published the original story after the insurance man vouched for its truth, conducted two subsequent investigations and came to the conclusion the tale was fiction. The paper printed a second story expressing skepticism.

The insurance man, however, still sticks to the story as firmly as the baby sitter reportedly did to the toilet seat, although he now attributes it to a friend who attributes it to another friend and so on.

Similar efforts at pursuit over the years also left everyone winded.

At any rate, while it was still going, the latest edition of the aging yarn stirred up a good many new chuckles across the country.

The Dispatch's Jan. 23 story carried this headline: "Baby Sitter Unwillingly Stuck To Her Job." A note proclaimed the account to be true but with names omitted "to protect the injured."

The Associated Press checked the insurance man who had related it to the newspaper. He stoutly vouched for its accuracy. The AP distributed the story on its nationwide wires.

Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver Post, remembered that one of his reporters tried to pin down a similar story about 25 years ago while he was managing editor of the Portland Oregonian.

From Charles Nichols, news editor of the Toronto Telegram, came word that his wife read of a similar incident in a novel the very day the latest version was published here.

Athletic Scholarship Good?

There's seldom a bite in a carload of the current speeches on what's wrong with American education. But Dr. A. Whitney Griswold, president of Yale University, aimed straight at a sacred cow in declaring that college athletic scholarships are "one of the greatest educational swindles ever perpetrated on American youth."

Dr. Griswold said that indiscriminate scholarships helped to "undermine the structure of American education."

Yale's athletic record being what it is, some will take this as a form of sour grapes. Especially when the Ivy League, of which Yale is a member, prohibits athletic scholarships. But Dr. Griswold has considerable stature in the academic world, does not back away from a fight, and commands attention when he speaks.

Dr. Griswold declared that in America there is "a widespread attitude that shows no signs whatever of comprehending the significance of Russia to American education and no sense of purpose for our educational institutions higher than using them as promoters of spectator sports."

The aim of an athletic scholarship "is not the education of that youth, but the entertainment of his elders; not the welfare of the athlete but the pleasure of the spectator." The practice, he concluded, "whether cause or symptom," is part of "the general collapse of amateurism in American athletics and the hypocrisy practiced in its name."

This speech is not likely to endear President Griswold to coaches, athletic directors and sports-loving alumni. But it may prove an uncomfortable shoe for some college presidents to wear as they make speeches about improving American education.

LAFF-A-DAY

"I've put my finger on your trouble!"

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower expresses some optimism about the Soviets, latest note over Berlin and Germany. Just how deep is the optimism? From an examination of all he said Wednesday it doesn't look very deep.

He was asked at his news conference what he thought of the Soviet acceptance of the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Berlin and Germany.

He said, "we are taking it for the moment just as optimistically as we can." This, in view of what else he said, turned out to be a very restrained optimism.

It was, however, in keeping with the kind of international sigh of relief that went up when the Soviets, by accepting the idea of a ministers meeting, showed they were at least willing to talk a bit.

This sigh was almost instantly stuffed back down the international throat when the Soviets followed up their acceptance by repeating the position they had taken before:

1. That a foreign ministers meeting is just a kind of gum-beating operation by people who can't really decide anything since the decisions are made by men at the top.

2. That, therefore, the only way to get things done is to have the the top men, like President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev, get together in a summit meeting.

Even British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had just finished a series of meetings with Khrushchev, didn't come away bubbling with hope. Instead, he was talking about the "dangerous situation" building up around Berlin.

Eisenhower told his news conference the time will probably come to keep American bombers on a 24-hour air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going."

He didn't say precisely what situation he had in mind but the question he was answering was the question of increasing American defense against the background of continuing tension between East and West.

That wouldn't make it seem Eisenhower is overly optimistic about settlements with the U.S.S.R.

One of the key points in the impending crisis over Berlin has been Khrushchev's demand that the Western allies pull their 10,000 troops out of West Berlin, which lies in the heart of Communist East Germany.

Eisenhower repeated his statement that this country would never abandon its rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

Khrushchev has argued the only way to get East and West Germany united is by letting them arrange it between themselves. That's throwing cold water on the West's contention that the way to unification is through free elections.

Eisenhower again took his stand on the side of free elections.

When he was asked if Macmillan's visit to Khrushchev served a useful purpose, Eisenhower responded: "Now, when you come down to the possibility that there may have been some lessening of this rigidity . . . in the Soviet attitude, that we can't tell until events unfold a little further."

Although Khrushchev has insisted that only a summit meeting can solve anything. Eisenhower said the opposite.

"What I keep deploring is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it," he said.

Who Is 'Spoiling' Our Youth?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Socrates, reputed the wisest man of antiquity, was given a hemlock cup for corrupting the youth of Athens.

Yet all he did was ask them questions designed to help them think for themselves.

In every period of history someone is accused of leading the young folks astray by giving them false ideas. Who today should be handed the lethal cup of hemlock?

Who is spoiling the present younger generation? That is, if we go along with the always popular generalization that the current crop of youngsters is the brattiest, the most irresponsible bunch of smart alecs ever to sorrow and sully a hopeful time.

If anything is spoiling the younger generation today it is the generation that preceded it — our own. If anything is setting them a bad example, it is us. If they are lax, it is because we have been lax with them.

The biggest culprits are probably middle-class parents, by far the largest class in America. The poor don't have the money to spoil their young; the rich, by and large, can afford to—but usually don't. Children born to wealth generally learn its value young.

It's the self-made man who started from nothing and struggled his way up to a $10,000-to-$15,000 a year salary who sometimes seems most adept at spoiling his own children.

Recently we dined at the home of such a man. During the meal he reminisced about how much tougher life was when he was a boy.

"Yeah, popsy," jeered his 18-year-old son. "Tell us again how you used to have to swim three miles each way to school every day."

Later, when we were alone, the father remarked rather wryly on his son's lack of appreciation.

"I had to quit college after two years to help out my family," he said. "But my son has never had to work a day in his life. I give him a good allowance, he has his own car. I couldn't afford to join a fraternity. He belongs to the best one on his campus.

"But with all his advantages, he isn't paying any attention to his studies. I'm afraid he's going to flunk out. And that'll break his mother's heart."

Asked why he didn't make his son earn at least part of his way, he said: "Well, I want life for him to be easier than it was for me. I think I missed a lot by having to work too hard, too young."

Isn't the biggest sin most middle-class parents are visiting on their children today the sin of trying to make life too easy for them?

Dear Sir:

"The article on young teenagers forced marriages, and loose morals has finally driven me to say something about it.

"Why, in heaven's name? do we lay everything at the youths' doorsteps? They are only doing what they see and hear everywhere about them and from the adults, too, mind you.

"In recent years it seems as though, the law, has taken over the raising of our youth, not the parents, who some where along the line, just given up this important part of parenthood.

"When two children in a neighborhood have a squabble as they have, and will have as long as there are children, the parents of one or both simply call the Juvenile officer, and consequently, one or both children have started a delinquency record.

"If this makes a delinquent child, then I am sure we have about all been reformed delinquents.

"I had an experience a few years ago, when the window of my car was broken by a very small boy. In asking restitution for the glass, I was informed, the parents didn't have to assume responsibility for damage done by their children, that I was to file a delinquency complaint against the child. I have never heard of anything so ridiculous.

"Can you also see how this, in time would automatically force our youngsters to dread and eventually hate the law? Isn't there some way, as citizens, we can revive the old methods of parents caring for the children? And being responsible for them until they are old enough to fend for themselves?

"Children need more than food food and a place to sleep. Any institution will provide that.

"There are still some parents outside this category I am speaking of but, oh, so few.

"Also, what has happened to our Moral laws? Did we throw them out too? I am not speaking of teenagers either, but the adults.

"I read of an affair, that went like this. A married man and father of three children was on trial for murder. Reluctantly he brought forth a witness, a young married lady, who proved he could not have committed the crime, because he was with her, had spent the night with her.

"He was cleared. But, what about a morals charge? Adultery? or whatever the charge is for that crime, because it is a crime.

"How can we overlook these affairs of adults and clean up the young people? Before we can do anything with them, we will have to clean up the adults first, until we can do something about them.

"Let's stay off the teenagers back!

"Let's lay the blame where it belongs—to the whole adult population, from parents to law enforcements.

"I would like to hear more on these views.

Divorces Are Always Sad

By George Sokolsky

Being neither an escapist nor a beatnik, I sometimes wonder at the doings of our politicians and look out upon the world to see how things are moving along.

In the good, old days of yesteryear, there might have been a speech by Winston Churchill, a purge by Stalin, a quip by Franklin D. Roosevelt, a war here and there and maybe eves a shooting by a pair of racketeers.

But now I have to see and hear about Eddie, Debbie and Liz, with big pictures of buxum women and a little fellow with frizzie hair and a weary smile.

I don't mind reading of the success of a singer or the rise of a new comedian or the beauties of a damsel or how to keep curls in one's hair, but is it necessary to see day in and day out that a fellow divorces his wife and takes on the widow of his best friend, perhaps as some act of friendship? And the little wife wonders why he did it and got an enormous property settlement — much more, according to the newspapers, than you or I could save if we worked all our lives, which only goes to show that if you sing your way through life, you can make quite a fortune at it.

It is not the fortune or the settlement that bothers me, but the fact that on May 27 we face an ultimatum over the question of Berlin and that if that date is not wiped off the calendar, we might be in a general war and lots of young men and women will be killed and the carnal doings of Eddie and Debbie and Liz are not very significant compared to that ugly prospect.

One wonders sometimes what goes on in the minds of our people. Here is Wesbrook Pegler, the musicologist, writing about the beauties of "Sweet Adeline" and "The Old Mill Stream" and such nostalgic ditties, and here am I reading about Eddie, Debbie and Liz and which is the woman of his true love and I wonder if there is not something better to do, even on a rainy day.

Mind you, I don't know these people any more than you do. I once saw Eddie and Debbie in the Stork Club and their eyes sparkled with young love which is very pretty, indeed. And I saw Liz twice, once walking down Park Avenue with her second husband and they were holding hands and looking so much like that song, "School Days," written by Gus Edwards, the sentimentalist of my childhood. And another time, I saw her with her first husband, sitting at a table on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf-Astoria and they both looked as though they regretted something. It was very sad.

Divorces are always sad. They are the terminal point of the failure of a grand adventure. For marriage, even for a movie star or a singer or anybody, is the assertion of the highest form of creativeness of which man is capable. He not only acts biologically but he acts socially. He forms a household, a family. He perpetuates a society and he hopes that it will be a good society. He leaves a monument of something achieved after he dies. There are joys and heartbreaks in a family; there is sacrifice and pain.

Eddie and Debbie and Liz have had their day of pictures and publicity and excitement. It is understandable that the world loves a great lover and that is why the stories of Abelard and Heloise, of Romeo and Juliet, of Tristan and Isolde are ever fresh. These however are tales of faithfulness. But such stories as Eddie, Debbie and Liz are ancient tales that weary even gossip. It is the story of the man who came to dinner and remained a boarder with an aside to the wife now and then. Sometimes, it is a guy; sometimes it is a dame. But the yarn is the same—the faithful spouse who is being betrayed catches the pair and screams out loud. It is an old scenario, only this time it was different; there were no closed doors, no pulled blinds, no secrecy. What was done was in the open, with photographs and press agents all over the place.

Poor Eddie and Debbie and Liz!

In 1939 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth were the first reigning English sovereigns to visit the Dominion of Canada.

Sick Child a Problem

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

What can you do when an ill child won't take his medicine without a struggle?

Parents across the country have asked this question of themselves and their doctors countless times.

In the past, I have offered several suggestions to help solve this perennial problem. Now, a Norfolk, Va., pediatrician, Dr. Forrest P. White, has mapped out a real battle plan.

In an article in a recent issue of the American Medical Association's publication, "Today's Health," Dr. White lists the following general rules:

First, plan the procedure. Have all the equipment within reach. If two adults are to administer the medicine, decide what each will do.

Put the medicine bottle where the child can't knock it over. This is especially advisable if it is an expensive medicine.

Right from the beginning be determined that you will succeed. Perhaps this obvious determination will be enough to convince the child that he might as well cooperate.

Keep calm and don't let the child's excitement affect you. Talk soothingly to the youngster, even if he is yelling and screaming.

If the child vomits when a liquid medicine is given, wait until he calms down before trying to give it to him again. Generally, it will stay down the second time.

Sometimes it is best to give only half a teaspoonful at a time. This way less of the medicine is apt to be spilled.

Gently place the spoon on the tongue and hold it there. Tip it to pour a small amount onto the back of the tongue. As long as you hold the spoon in place, the child can't spit out the medicine and therefore has no choice but to swallow it.

If the child clamps his mouth shut tightly, you can wrap him snugly in a sheet or blanket, thus freeing both of your hands to get his mouth open and the spoon inside.

let father hold the youngster on his the medicine.

Dr. White also tells how to hold the child if only one parent is around to give the medicine, but this becomes a bit complicated lap so he can grab the youngster's wrists while mother administers

Otherwise, it probably is best to what with holding the child's legs between your knees etc.

As I said, this is a real battle plan.

Athletic Scholarship Good?

There's seldom a bite in a carload of the current speeches on what's wrong with American education. But Dr. A. Whitney Griswold, president of Yale University, aimed straight at a sacred cow in declaring that college athletic scholarships are "one of the greatest educational swindles ever perpetrated on American youth."

Dr. Griswold said that indiscriminate scholarships helped to "undermine the structure of American education."

Yale's athletic record being what it is, some will take this as a form of sour grapes. Especially when the Ivy League, of which Yale is a member, prohibits athletic scholarships. But Dr. Griswold has considerable stature in the academic world, does not back away from a fight, and commands attention when he speaks.

Dr. Griswold declared that in America there is "a widespread attitude that shows no signs whatever of comprehending the significance of Russia to American education and no sense of purpose for our educational institutions higher than using them as promoters of spectator sports."

The aim of an athletic scholarship "is not the education of that youth, but the entertainment of his elders; not the welfare of the athlete but the pleasure of the spectator." The practice, he concluded, "whether cause or symptom," is part of "the general collapse of amateurism in American athletics and the hypocrisy practiced in its name."

This speech is not likely to endear President Griswold to coaches, athletic directors and sports-loving alumni. But it may prove an uncomfortable shoe for some college presidents to wear as they make speeches about improving American education.

"I've put my finger on your trouble!"

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower expresses some optimism about the Soviets, latest note over Berlin and Germany. Just how deep is the optimism? From an examination of all he said Wednesday it doesn't look very deep.

He was asked at his news conference what he thought of the Soviet acceptance of the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Berlin and Germany.

He said, "we are taking it for the moment just as optimistically as we can." This, in view of what else he said, turned out to be a very restrained optimism.

It was, however, in keeping with the kind of international sigh of relief that went up when the Soviets, by accepting the idea of a ministers meeting, showed they were at least willing to talk a bit.

This sigh was almost instantly stuffed back down the international throat when the Soviets followed up their acceptance by repeating the position they had taken before:

1. That a foreign ministers meeting is just a kind of gum-beating operation by people who can't really decide anything since the decisions are made by men at the top.

2. That, therefore, the only way to get things done is to have the the top men, like President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev, get together in a summit meeting.

Even British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had just finished a series of meetings with Khrushchev, didn't come away bubbling with hope. Instead, he was talking about the "dangerous situation" building up around Berlin.

Eisenhower told his news conference the time will probably come to keep American bombers on a 24-hour air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going."

He didn't say precisely what situation he had in mind but the question he was answering was the question of increasing American defense against the background of continuing tension between East and West.

That wouldn't make it seem Eisenhower is overly optimistic about settlements with the U.S.S.R.

One of the key points in the impending crisis over Berlin has been Khrushchev's demand that the Western allies pull their 10,000 troops out of West Berlin, which lies in the heart of Communist East Germany.

Eisenhower repeated his statement that this country would never abandon its rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

Khrushchev has argued the only way to get East and West Germany united is by letting them arrange it between themselves. That's throwing cold water on the West's contention that the way to unification is through free elections.

Eisenhower again took his stand on the side of free elections.

When he was asked if Macmillan's visit to Khrushchev served a useful purpose, Eisenhower responded: "Now, when you come down to the possibility that there may have been some lessening of this rigidity . . . in the Soviet attitude, that we can't tell until events unfold a little further."

Although Khrushchev has insisted that only a summit meeting can solve anything. Eisenhower said the opposite.

"What I keep deploring is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it," he said.

Who Is 'Spoiling' Our Youth?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Socrates, reputed the wisest man of antiquity, was given a hemlock cup for corrupting the youth of Athens.

Yet all he did was ask them questions designed to help them think for themselves.

In every period of history someone is accused of leading the young folks astray by giving them false ideas. Who today should be handed the lethal cup of hemlock?

Who is spoiling the present younger generation? That is, if we go along with the always popular generalization that the current crop of youngsters is the brattiest, the most irresponsible bunch of smart alecs ever to sorrow and sully a hopeful time.

If anything is spoiling the younger generation today it is the generation that preceded it — our own. If anything is setting them a bad example, it is us. If they are lax, it is because we have been lax with them.

The biggest culprits are probably middle-class parents, by far the largest class in America. The poor don't have the money to spoil their young; the rich, by and large, can afford to—but usually don't. Children born to wealth generally learn its value young.

It's the self-made man who started from nothing and struggled his way up to a $10,000-to-$15,000 a year salary who sometimes seems most adept at spoiling his own children.

Recently we dined at the home of such a man. During the meal he reminisced about how much tougher life was when he was a boy.

"Yeah, popsy," jeered his 18-year-old son. "Tell us again how you used to have to swim three miles each way to school every day."

Later, when we were alone, the father remarked rather wryly on his son's lack of appreciation.

"I had to quit college after two years to help out my family," he said. "But my son has never had to work a day in his life. I give him a good allowance, he has his own car. I couldn't afford to join a fraternity. He belongs to the best one on his campus.

"But with all his advantages, he isn't paying any attention to his studies. I'm afraid he's going to flunk out. And that'll break his mother's heart."

Asked why he didn't make his son earn at least part of his way, he said: "Well, I want life for him to be easier than it was for me. I think I missed a lot by having to work too hard, too young."

Isn't the biggest sin most middle-class parents are visiting on their children today the sin of trying to make life too easy for them?

Dear Sir:

"The article on young teenagers forced marriages, and loose morals has finally driven me to say something about it.

"Why, in heaven's name? do we lay everything at the youths' doorsteps? They are only doing what they see and hear everywhere about them and from the adults, too, mind you.

"In recent years it seems as though, the law, has taken over the raising of our youth, not the parents, who some where along the line, just given up this important part of parenthood.

"When two children in a neighborhood have a squabble as they have, and will have as long as there are children, the parents of one or both simply call the Juvenile officer, and consequently, one or both children have started a delinquency record.

"If this makes a delinquent child, then I am sure we have about all been reformed delinquents.

"I had an experience a few years ago, when the window of my car was broken by a very small boy. In asking restitution for the glass, I was informed, the parents didn't have to assume responsibility for damage done by their children, that I was to file a delinquency complaint against the child. I have never heard of anything so ridiculous.

"Can you also see how this, in time would automatically force our youngsters to dread and eventually hate the law? Isn't there some way, as citizens, we can revive the old methods of parents caring for the children? And being responsible for them until they are old enough to fend for themselves?

"Children need more than food food and a place to sleep. Any institution will provide that.

"There are still some parents outside this category I am speaking of but, oh, so few.

"Also, what has happened to our Moral laws? Did we throw them out too? I am not speaking of teenagers either, but the adults.

"I read of an affair, that went like this. A married man and father of three children was on trial for murder. Reluctantly he brought forth a witness, a young married lady, who proved he could not have committed the crime, because he was with her, had spent the night with her.

"He was cleared. But, what about a morals charge? Adultery? or whatever the charge is for that crime, because it is a crime.

"How can we overlook these affairs of adults and clean up the young people? Before we can do anything with them, we will have to clean up the adults first, until we can do something about them.

"Let's stay off the teenagers back!

"Let's lay the blame where it belongs—to the whole adult population, from parents to law enforcements.

"I would like to hear more on these views.

Divorces Are Always Sad

By George Sokolsky

Being neither an escapist nor a beatnik, I sometimes wonder at the doings of our politicians and look out upon the world to see how things are moving along.

In the good, old days of yesteryear, there might have been a speech by Winston Churchill, a purge by Stalin, a quip by Franklin D. Roosevelt, a war here and there and maybe even a shooting by a pair of racketeers.

But now I have to see and hear about Eddie, Debbie and Liz, with big pictures of buxum women and a little fellow with frizzle hair and a weary smile.

I don't mind reading of the success of a singer or the rise of a new comedian or the beauties of a damsel or how to keep curls in one's hair, but is it necessary to see day in and day out that a fellow divorces his wife and takes on the widow of his best friend, perhaps as some act of friendship? And the little wife wonders why he did it and got an enormous property settlement — much more, according to the newspapers, than you or I could save if we worked all our lives, which only goes to show that if you sing your way through life, you can make quite a fortune at it.

It is not the fortune or the settlement that bothers me, but the fact that on May 27 we face an ultimatum over the question of Berlin and that if that date is not wiped off the calendar, we might be in a general war and lots of young men and women will be killed and the carnal doings of Eddie and Debbie and Liz are not very significant compared to that ugly prospect.

One wonders sometimes what goes on in the minds of our people. Here is Wesbrook Pegler, the musicologist, writing about the beauties of "Sweet Adeline" and "The Old Mill Stream" and such nostalgic ditties, and here am I reading about Eddie, Debbie and Liz and which is the woman of his true love and I wonder if there is not something better to do, even on a rainy day.

Mind you, I don't know these people any more than you do. I once saw Eddie and Debbie in the Stork Club and their eyes sparkled with young love which is very pretty, indeed. And I saw Liz twice, once walking down Park Avenue with her second husband and they were holding hands and looking so much like that song, "School Days," written by Gus Edwards, the sentimentalist of my childhood. And another time, I saw her with her first husband, sitting at a table on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf-Astoria and they both looked as though they regretted something. It was very sad.

Divorces are always sad. They are the terminal point of the failure of a grand adventure. For marriage, even for a movie star or a singer or anybody, is the assertion of the highest form of creativeness of which man is capable. He not only acts biologically but he acts socially. He forms a household, a family. He perpetuates a society and he hopes that it will be a good society. He leaves a monument of something achieved after he dies. There are joys and heartbreaks in a family; there is sacrifice and pain.

Eddie and Debbie and Liz have had their day of pictures and publicity and excitement. It is understandable that the world loves a great lover and that is why the stories of Abelard and Heloise, of Romeo and Juliet, of Tristan and Isolde are ever fresh. These however are tales of faithfulness. But such stories as Eddie, Debbie and Liz are ancient tales that weary even gossip. It is the story of the man who came to dinner and remained a boarder with an aside to the wife now and then. Sometimes, it is a guy; sometimes it is a dame. But the yarn is the same—the faithful spouse who is being betrayed catches the pair and screams out loud. It is an old scenario, only this time it was different; there were no closed doors, no pulled blinds, no secrecy. What was done was in the open, with photographs and press agents all over the place.

Poor Eddie and Debbie and Liz!

In 1939 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth were the first reigning English sovereigns to visit the Dominion of Canada.

Sick Child a Problem

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

What can you do when an ill child won't take his medicine without a struggle?

Parents across the country have asked this question of themselves and their doctors countless times.

In the past, I have offered several suggestions to help solve this perennial problem. Now, a Norfolk, Va., pediatrician, Dr. Forrest P. White, has mapped out a real battle plan.

In an article in a recent issue of the American Medical Association's publication, "Today's Health," Dr. White lists the following general rules:

First, plan the procedure. Have all the equipment within reach. If two adults are to administer the medicine, decide what each will do.

Put the medicine bottle where the child can't knock it over. This is especially advisable if it is an expensive medicine.

Right from the beginning be determined that you will succeed. Perhaps this obvious determination will be enough to convince the child that he might as well cooperate.

Keep calm and don't let the child's excitement affect you. Talk soothingly to the youngster, even if he is yelling and screaming.

If the child vomits when a liquid medicine is given, wait until he calms down before trying to give it to him again. Generally, it will stay down the second time.

Sometimes it is best to give only half a teaspoonful at a time. This way less of the medicine is apt to be spilled.

Gently place the spoon on the tongue and hold it there. Tip it to pour a small amount onto the back of the tongue. As long as you hold the spoon in place, the child can't spit out the medicine and therefore has no choice but to swallow it.

If the child clamps his mouth shut tightly, you can wrap him snugly in a sheet or blanket, thus freeing both of your hands to get his mouth open and the spoon inside.

let father hold the youngster on his the medicine.

Dr. White also tells how to hold the child if only one parent is around to give the medicine, but this becomes a bit complicated lap so he can grab the youngster's wrists while mother administers

Otherwise, it probably is best to what with holding the child's legs between your knees etc.

As I said, this is a real battle plan.

Shift of Reclamation Work In Ohio Cabinet Is Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Whatever the Legislature decides to do with Gov. DiSalle's recommendation to shift the Reclamation Division from Agriculture to Natural Resources, at least three voices are urging an unhurried approach to any problems relating to surface mining operations.

Three members of the governor's Cabinet—Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune, Natural Resources Director Herbert B. Eagon and Dr. Robert A. Haines, director of Mental Hygiene and Correction—are saying in effect:

"Let's not be hasty about this."

They got together about a week ago to discuss, among other things, DiSalle's proposal to change the Reclamation Division from the Agriculture Department to the Natural Resources Department.

Then they told the governor at last Friday's Cabinet meeting that:

1. Friday's deadline for introduction of routine legislation didn't give them much time.

2. The reclamation problem is pretty complicated to try and cope with on such short notice.

3. It would be better to spend some time studying the matter, then perhaps recommend steps to the next Legislature—if the need is indicated. (DiSalle recommended the shift Tuesday night, anyway.)

Here are some of the aspects of reclamation the three say they'll look into:

The pattern of ownership — Do the companies that worked the land own it, or did they pay fees to private landowners to use it? If it's private land, can the state legally institute erosion - control and appearance - restoring programs?

Location of coal reserves—There are indications that coal can be found in good quantity in some areas strip-mined earlier with less efficient equipment than exists today. There wouldn't be much sense in working to restore the appearance and usefulness of the land if it's apt to be mined again.

Location of deposits of other minerals which may be developed by surface mining methods — Again, the matter of restoring land only to possibly have it reworked.

Relationship to water resources development, flood control and recreation—And with this comes consideration of bringing the worked-over land into harmony with the area around it, maintaining a natural balance.

Availability of manpower from the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction for employment on reclamation projects—As the result of laws which went into effect 1948 and 1949, companies which strip-mine for coal in Ohio must restore the land when they are through or forfeit bond, money from which is then used to hire private help to restore the mined area. What's considered here is the use of honor camp inmates to restore areas mined in the "pre-law" 1914-1948 period when no such protection was incorporated in the law.

Reclamation of areas disturbed by development of ceramic clays, sand, gravel and limestone—These surface operations are not required by law to restore the land after it has been worked.

March 31 Slated For Letting of Ohio Highway Contracts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Department says a tentative list of projects for which contracts will be let March 31 includes road work in 22 counties.

Among projects for which some federal money will be used are improvements along Ohio 122 in Butler and Warren counties, Ohio 7 in Jefferson County, U. S. 36 in Knox County, Ohio 180 in Ross County and Ohio 82 in Trumbull County.

State maintenance work includes Ohio 132 in Clermont and Warren counties, Ohio 257 in Delaware and Franklin counties, Ohio 360-37-204 in Fairfield and Licking counties, and Ohio 13 in Knox County.

Also on the state maintenance list are Ohio 16 and 668 in Licking County, Ohio 47 in Logan County, Ohio 718 in Miami County and U.S. 50 in Ross County.

Acceptance by Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and one-time presidential disarmament adviser, virtually assured him of the GOP nomination.

Another Rise In Prices Is Seen in Offing

Initial Pressure Noted As Developing in Industrial Materials

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Unrest abroad and fear of strikes here are putting pressure on prices today where such pressure usually starts—at the industrial materials level.

It will take a while for this to work through manufacturing processes to appear finally in the retail prices at the stores. But economists are watching to see if the rising prices of such things as copper may be heralding another general rise.

The consumer is being lulled at the moment largely because farm prices had been weakening and the prices of at least some grocery items like coffee have come down.

But linked to the current creeping rise in industrial material prices is a strong chance that anticipated wage boosts will send these raw components of tomorrow's consumer goods still higher.

World trouble spots have added to the pressure. The threat of armed conflict over Berlin has set some purchasing agents to wondering if their inventories will be adequate if world trade is cut off or disrupted.

The case of the rise in copper prices is tied directly to the spreading racial unrest in Africa. Some of the world's chief sources of copper are in areas where racial outbreaks and nationalist furor are growing.

Speculative buying in Europe has sprung from the belief that this important source of copper may be cut off.

Another reason for the upward pressure on prices is that the industrial recovery has built up demand.

The demand for copper often follows closely that for steel, since the two metals go together in many products. Steel is enjoying a big comeback. Mills are turning out a record tonnage. Much of the demand has come with the revival of production in the auto and appliance industries.

The upward price trend has shown in other industrial commodities. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that its index of industrial commodity prices is at a record high of 127.6 (with 100 being the 1947-49 average). This index covers all commodities other than farm products and foods.

Rising industrial commodity prices and labor costs are the headaches of manufacturers.

But the threat to consumers comes from this: for some time now they have been resisting higher prices on consumer goods and have been able to do so because of the keen competition among manufacturers, who have had to absorb much of the increased costs.

The time may come when they can't absorb any more. Then up goes the cost of living.

Woman of 50 Slated To Be As Alluring as Girl of 20

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fifty years from now, a woman of 50 will be just as alluring as a girl of 20.

That is the fearless prediction of Max Factor, head of the cosmetics concern that is celebrating its first half-century.

"When my father started the company in 1909, women scarcely used cosmetics at all," he commented. "They pinched their cheeks to give them color. The only ones who painted their lips were women of questionable repute or theatrical types — and there was little distinction between the two.

"The movie stars helped us spread the use of makeup. As the stars became popular, the public copied their dress and grooming.

"Gradually, the use of makeup became almost universal among women. Now girls start wearing it at 14 or younger instead of waiting until they are 18."

What about 50 years hence?

"People will be living longer. When we started in business, the life expectancy was 40 years or so. Now it is in the 70s and it will go higher. People will want to avoid the lines and sags of old age as long as possible.

"I firmly believe that in the future women of 50 years or more will look as appealing as girls of 20. We are keeping in touch with scientific experiments in Europe on youth-giving cosmetics."

Factor also foresees the extensive use of cosmetics by men 50 years from now, and for the same reason: to keep young. Men who live longer will want to work longer; hence they'll need to avoid looking aged. Among the Factor predictions: A pill which will forestall the graying of hair.

Newark Night Club Loses Tax Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Tax Appeals has decided that patrons who bought single shots of bar whisky in Moonglow Gardens Night Club, 1007 Hollander St., Newark, between Oct. 27, 1954 and March 3, 1956, were paying an actual price of 45 cents.

The operators, A. G. Athan and T. Massalas, argued that patrons were paying 37½ cents—less than the 41 cent minimum for state sales taxes—with 7½ cents added for federal cabaret tax. They appealed a $219 sales tax and 15 per cent penalty assessment on 45 cent bar whisky shot sales for the period.

But the board said the federal cabaret tax is levied against the vendor, not the consumer, and ruled the tax commissioner was correct in levying the state sales tax on 45 cents.

Disgruntled Heir Damages 3 Houses

About 50 smashed windows, kicked-out screens, two broken beds and shredded curtains lay in the wake of the rampage Wednesday after Kasen learned he had inherited only $500, Miller said.

Stassen Accepts Bid From GOP in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harold E. Stassen has accepted an offer of Republican leaders to be their candidate for mayor.

Acceptance by Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and one-time presidential disarmament adviser, virtually assured him of the GOP nomination.

City Chairman Wilbur Hamilton, 57 of 59 ward leaders, and independent W. Thacher Longstreth, the Republican mayoralty candidate four years ago, signed petitions asking Stassen to run.

Another Rise In Prices Is Seen in Offing

Initial Pressure Noted As Developing in Industrial Materials

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Unrest abroad and fear of strikes here are putting pressure on prices today where such pressure usually starts—at the industrial materials level.

It will take a while for this to work through manufacturing processes to appear finally in the retail prices at the stores. But economists are watching to see if the rising prices of such things as copper may be heralding another general rise.

The consumer is being lulled at the moment largely because farm prices had been weakening and the prices of at least some grocery items like coffee have come down.

But linked to the current creeping rise in industrial material prices is a strong chance that anticipated wage boosts will send these raw components of tomorrow's consumer goods still higher.

World trouble spots have added to the pressure. The threat of armed conflict over Berlin has set some purchasing agents to wondering if their inventories will be adequate if world trade is cut off or disrupted.

The case of the rise in copper prices is tied directly to the spreading racial unrest in Africa. Some of the world's chief sources of copper are in areas where racial outbreaks and nationalist furor are growing.

Speculative buying in Europe has sprung from the belief that this important source of copper may be cut off.

Another reason for the upward pressure on prices is that the industrial recovery has built up demand.

The demand for copper often follows closely that for steel, since the two metals go together in many products. Steel is enjoying a big comeback. Mills are turning out a record tonnage. Much of the demand has come with the revival of production in the auto and appliance industries.

The upward price trend has shown in other industrial commodities. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that its index of industrial commodity prices is at a record high of 127.6 (with 100 being the 1947-49 average). This index covers all commodities other than farm products and foods.

Rising industrial commodity prices and labor costs are the headaches of manufacturers.

But the threat to consumers comes from this: for some time now they have been resisting higher prices on consumer goods and have been able to do so because of the keen competition among manufacturers, who have had to absorb much of the increased costs.

The time may come when they can't absorb any more. Then up goes the cost of living.

Woman of 50 Slated To Be As Alluring as Girl of 20

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fifty years from now, a woman of 50 will be just as alluring as a girl of 20.

That is the fearless prediction of Max Factor, head of the cosmetics concern that is celebrating its first half-century.

"When my father started the company in 1909, women scarcely used cosmetics at all," he commented. "They pinched their cheeks to give them color. The only ones who painted their lips were women of questionable repute or theatrical types — and there was little distinction between the two.

"The movie stars helped us spread the use of makeup. As the stars became popular, the public copied their dress and grooming.

"Gradually, the use of makeup became almost universal among women. Now girls start wearing it at 14 or younger instead of waiting until they are 18."

What about 50 years hence?

"People will be living longer. When we started in business, the life expectancy was 40 years or so. Now it is in the 70s and it will go higher. People will want to avoid the lines and sags of old age as long as possible.

"I firmly believe that in the future women of 50 years or more will look as appealing as girls of 20. We are keeping in touch with scientific experiments in Europe on youth-giving cosmetics."

Factor also foresees the extensive use of cosmetics by men 50 years from now, and for the same reason: to keep young. Men who live longer will want to work longer; hence they'll need to avoid looking aged. Among the Factor predictions: A pill which will forestall the graying of hair.

Newark Night Club Loses Tax Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Tax Appeals has decided that patrons who bought single shots of bar whisky in Moonglow Gardens Night Club, 1007 Hollander St., Newark, between Oct. 27, 1954 and March 3, 1956, were paying an actual price of 45 cents.

The operators, A. G. Athan and T. Massalas, argued that patrons were paying 37½ cents—less than the 41 cent minimum for state sales taxes—with 7½ cents added for federal cabaret tax. They appealed a $219 sales tax and 15 per cent penalty assessment on 45 cent bar whisky shot sales for the period.

But the board said the federal cabaret tax is levied against the vendor, not the consumer, and ruled the tax commissioner was correct in levying the state sales tax on 45 cents.

Disgruntled Heir Damages 3 Houses

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A disgruntled heir cooled off in jail today after damaging three houses which his grandmother willed to other members of the family.

Police Capt. Lewis Miller said Nayef Kasen of Montgomery was being held for a hearing in City Court Friday on charges of disorderly conduct and destruction of property.

About 50 smashed windows, kicked-out screens, two broken beds and shredded curtains lay in the wake of the rampage Wednesday after Kasen learned he had inherited only $500, Miller said.

Ohio 'Hoover Panel' Urged by Lima Solon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Lima member of the General Assembly has called for creation of a "little Hoover Commission" to survey Ohio's state governmental agencies.

Rep. Walter L. White (R-Allen) proposes the Ohio commission be named to point out duplication of functions and recommend consolidation or abolition of non-essential bureaus and agencies.

'New World of Ideas' Program Presented Club

Mrs. William Speakman presented "New World of Ideas," a home decorating travelogue in slides by the Celanese Corporation of America, to members of the Junior Women's Club and their guests, members of the Newcomers Club. The meeting was held last night in the home of Mrs. Richard Pettit, Springhollow Road.

Each year Celanese sends their Home Decorating Consultants, John and Earline Brice, in search of new ideas for fabric design. This year their travels took them to Central and South America where they found over 300 fabulous treasures, which have been translated into exquisite Fabrics and Home Furnishings of Celanese Contemporary Fibers which are featured in the room settings.

Special "New World" colors are seen in the decorative fabrics, ranging from tracery printed gossamer sheers to home spun weaves, brilliantly printed antique satins and rich damasks sparked with metallic threads in gold and silver.

The South American flavor is again seen in beautifully textured rugs and carpets made of Celanese Celaire, the Acetate with the permanent twist, and Celaperm, the sealed-in-color Acetate. Forticel plastic telephones in the gayest colors enliven many of the room settings.

Slides were also shown of capital cities of Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Argentina, Brazil and Venezuela; Mount Corcovado in Brazil, Copacabana Beach, Lake Titicaca in Bolivia, and Machu Picchu, Peru, the lost city of the Incas.

Mrs. Donald Archer, vice-president of Newcomers Club, assisted in drawing for the door prize, a dress length of Celanese fabric, which was presented to Mrs. Harold Whitmore.

A rendition of "Easter Parade" with an accompanying skit was given by the club sextet, composed of Mrs. Earl Weaver, Mrs. Ted Wolfe, Mrs. Merle Turner Jr., Mrs. Harry Turner, Mrs. Speakman and Mrs. Pettit.

Mrs. Stanley Spring presided at the business meeting which was opened with devotions given by Mrs. Harold Miller. Members answered the roll call by giving a point on parliamentary procedure and modeling the hats, dresses and purses which were exchanged at previous meetings.

Mrs. Pettit will represent the club in the Fashion-Sewing Contest which is being sponsored for the second consecutive year by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Washington, D. C. with the cooperation of Vogue Pattern Service and the Woman's Club Service Bureau, New York City. She will model her outfit at the luncheon during the Legislation Day meeting of District VII of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in Lancaster on March 17 at which time judging of the district contest will take place.

The club will sponsor a bake sale on March 21 in the Sears, Roebuck and Company store, W. Main Street. Mrs. Harry Turner is chairman. The proceeds of this project will be used for the annual Scholarship Fund.

On Sunday, March 8, members will worship together at the 10:45 a. m. service of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Donald Poling, Mrs. Charles Felkey, Mrs. Whitmore and Mrs. Weaver.

The April meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Robert Christy, Lincoln Drive.

That was the grim picture before a Senate subcommittee today as it concluded a series of three hearings on West Virginia's hard hit economy.

An estimated 15 per cent of the state's 500,000 work force are jobless, more than double the national average.

Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-WVa) told the Senate group Thursday at Beckley that West Virginia has the highest unemployment rate in the union, with 45,000 persons having exhausted their unemployment benefits.

Kids Offer To Shoot Any Tutor Cheap

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — County detectives today squashed a loosely organized teenage gang which they said was set up to shoot elementary school principals and teachers for a fee.

All youths are in elementary school save one, Detective Harlan Grooms said.

One of the youths, a 14-year-old sixth grader, had acquired a .38 caliber snub-nosed revolver. Detectives said the youth was seeking more weapons to arm his cohorts.

Detectives James Alltop and George Roberts, who worked on the case for more than two months, said the 14-year-old's avowed purpose was to set a $2 to $3 price tag on the heads of educators.

"Anybody who got a hard time from a teacher or principal could obtain their services," Roberts said he learned.

Sheriff's deputies said the last of five youths ranging in age from 13 to 17 was arrested Wednesday.

Deputies linked all to eight burglaries in the Valley Pike area since last May.

Two of the other youths were fourth graders and one a sixth grader. The fifth member is a 17-year-old who quit school, detectives added.

All were turned over to their parents, pending action by juvenile authorities.

Council Meet Held Tuesday

Mrs. Donald H. Watt attended District No. 9 Judges' Council of the Ohio Assn. of Garden Clubs when the judges met at the home of Mrs. Ralph Worthington, Grove City, for a 1 o'clock luncheon on Tuesday.

The flower show judges were invited to display arrangements at the district's regional meeting on April 15 at the North Broadway Methodist Church, Columbus. The theme of the all-day meeting will be "Knowing, Growing and Sharing." State president of OAGC, Mrs. V. R. Frederick, will be the principal speaker.

On May 14, the Fairfield Garden Club will sponsor Mrs. William Williams, Rocky River, who will display and discuss "Table Settings." It will be held at 1:30 p. m. in the Thomas Junior High School, Lancaster. This program of two hours will be open to the public.

For the group study, Mrs. Harley Hiser, Clarksburg, discussed "Foliage Plants" and Mrs. Walter Hughes, Clarksburg, "Flowering Plants." Five judges displayed a house plant used in a decorative manner.

Identification of houseplants was presented by Mrs. Floyd Ruble, Grove City.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Confession Is Good for Soul

DEAR ABBY: I did a terrible thing but what is done is done and I want to know what to do now. Our Church Auxiliary had a Bake Sale and we agreed that there would be no "mixes" used. I was in a hurry that morning and used a mix, but I made my own frosting (caramel). Everyone raved over my cake and they are all asking me for the recipe. I can't tell them it is a mix without looking like a fool. Should I find a regular white cake recipe in any old cookbook and give it to them or what?

TROUBLED CONSCIENCE

DEAR TROUBLED: Admit that you used a mix for the cake but give them the recipe for your frosting. You will make a lot of women happy by proving that you don't have to beat up your own batter to make it better.

DEAR ABBY: Can blushing be cured and if so, how? I work in an office and for almost no reason at all I blush like the setting sun when I laugh or when I am just a little bit uncomfortable. This awful blushing gives me away and I feel like crawling into a hole. Please, Abby, try to help me.

REDHEAD

DEAR REDHEAD: You blushers would blush even a deeper hue to know how refreshing it is to see a girl who can still blush. Get over the idea that it's something to be ashamed of and enjoy your individuality.

DEAR ABBY: I divorced my husband six years ago after I caught him giving our baby liuor in one of his bottles. I took the baby and left everything behind. Even my rings. I refused his support and went to work and got along nicely. Last week his sister called me and told me that my "ex" wanted to see me and the baby. She said he has joined "A.A." and had not had a drink in 3 years. My family says I'd be crazy to see him again. Maybe someone reading this has had experience with an alcoholic. Do they ever really change? Please help me decide what to do.

ONCE BURNT

DEAR ONCE: I would certainly see him and give him a chance to prove he has changed. If he had the stuff to stick with "A.A." for 3 years, he has probably learned his lesson.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe it's just my age, but I have become aware that my memory isn't as good as it used to be. I can't remember telephone numbers or addresses and sometimes important names escape me. Is this normal for people around fifty and is there anything I can do about it?

FORGETFUL

DEAR FORGETFUL: It's normal, so don't worry about it. A short pencil is better than a long memory.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LIVING WITH A DEVIL": Your man has become spiritually unbuttoned. You'll button him up faster with the help of your pastor.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

'EMBARRASSING'—Actress Debbie Reynolds said in Hollywood she has turned down Eddie Fisher's request for a "quickie" Nevada divorce that would free him to marry actress Elizabeth Taylor. Miss Reynolds said, "I haven't given my consent . . . I feel it would be embarrassing to my children to one day find out their father had two wives at the same time." Her California divorce, granted Feb. 19, does not become final under that state's law for one year.

Wife-Hiring Solon Gets Few Letters

WASHINGTON (AP)—The voters back home—judging from his mail—seem to be indifferent to the presence of Mrs. Eileen Levering on the payroll of her husband, Rep. Robert Levering (D-Ohio).

"I would say we haven't had more than 12 letters, and those weren't all from our district," Mrs. Levering, his $12,500-a-year secretary, said today.

"Some of them are critical. Some just want an explanation."

Where requested, Levering has carefully replied about the work his wife does. He says his wife, a lawyer, does far more than he would ask of anyone outside of his family.

One Democrat in Newark, Ohio, did take exception to a statement by Levering noting that his GOP predecessor, J. Harry McGregor, also had his wife on the payroll.

"Because it was traditional with the Republican in this district to hire his wife as his top aide is no reason," she wrote. "We Democrats would have liked to see you do differently."

On the other hand, a man in Coshocton wrote: "Don't give it a thought. Your wife is intelligent and beautiful."

A sampling of Levering's district mail on the subject shows he has received only two or three letters from Mount Vernon, one from Coshocton, none from Mansfield, one from Newark and a few more from smaller towns.

He received no letters at all from his own home town, Fredericktown.

Mrs. Trump Host For BS Mothers

Mrs. Harry Trump, Route 3, will be hostess to the Circleville Blue Star Mothers Chapter No. 7 from 2-4 p. m. Monday. Members are to bring sales tax stamps.

Meeting Place Changed by Club

The members of the Pickaway Garden Club will meet at 8 p. m. today in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House instead of in the Presbyterian Church.

Redecorating Committee Appointed by Salem WSCS

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Salem Methodist Church met last night at the church with 18 members and one guest, Miss Betty Boldoser, present.

Mrs. Donald Alcorn led the devotionals. She used for her topic "One In Christ — Progress in Ecumenicity." The group sang "This is My Father's World." Mrs. Marvin Konkle offered prayer.

The scripture lesson was taken from the 4th chapter of Ephesians, verses 1-8 and 11-16. Mrs. Alcorn gave a talk on the World Council of Churches. Mrs. Darl McAfee read "Cooperation on National and Interchurch levels." "Participation in the Wider Christian Fellowship" was read by Mrs. Ralph Ankrom.

The group sang "In Christ There Is No East or West." Mrs. Robert Parmer closed the devotions with prayer.

The Missionary Study was given by Mrs. Vera Miller and Mrs. Alcorn. They presented the outline on the meaning of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Alcorn, vice-president, presided over the business meeting. A report of four sick calls was made. The society voted to have the district officers training program in May at the church.

The vice-president appointed a committee to see about the redecorating of the church. Members of the committee are Mrs. Konkle, Mrs. William Bitzer, Mrs. McAfee and Mrs. Gerald Patrick.

At the close of the meeting, a salad course was served by hostesses, Mrs. Konkle, Mrs. Alva Dyer and Mrs. Ira Barr. An Easter theme was used in the table decorations.

Troop 205 Plans Pancake and Sausage Supper

Boy Scout Troop 205 Committee held a special meeting Tuesday evening to organize and assign duties for the coming Pancake and Sausage Supper on March 24.

Attending the meeting were Ed Grigg, Harry Metcalf, Charles Winner, Doyle Painter, committee chairman; Robert L. Steele, institutional representative; Gene Dowler, scoutmaster, and Bud Whitmore, assistant scoutmaster.

Discussion of last week's overnight camping trip to Scioto Trails was held. Those making the trip said they were rained out and forced to move to another campsite.

Deputies linked all to eight burglaries in the Valley Pike area since last May.

Two of the other youths were fourth graders and one a sixth grader. The fifth member is a 17-year-old who quit school, detectives added.

All were turned over to their parents, pending action by juvenile authorities.

Council Meet Held Tuesday

Mrs. Donald H. Watt attended District No. 9 Judges' Council of the Ohio Assn. of Garden Clubs when the judges met at the home of Mrs. Ralph Worthington, Grove City, for a 1 o'clock luncheon on Tuesday.

The flower show judges were invited to display arrangements at the district's regional meeting on April 15 at the North Broadway Methodist Church, Columbus. The theme of the all-day meeting will be "Knowing, Growing and Sharing." State president of OAGC, Mrs. V. R. Frederick, will be the principal speaker.

On May 14, the Fairfield Garden Club will sponsor Mrs. William Williams, Rocky River, who will display and discuss "Table Settings." It will be held at 1:30 p. m. in the Thomas Junior High School, Lancaster. This program of two hours will be open to the public.

For the group study, Mrs. Harley Hiser, Clarksburg, discussed "Foliage Plants" and Mrs. Walter Hughes, Clarksburg, "Flowering Plants." Five judges displayed a house plant used in a decorative manner.

Identification of houseplants was presented by Mrs. Floyd Ruble, Grove City.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Confession Is Good for Soul

DEAR ABBY: I did a terrible thing but what is done is done and I want to know what to do now. Our Church Auxiliary had a Bake Sale and we agreed that there would be no "mixes" used. I was in a hurry that morning and used a mix, but I made my own frosting (caramel). Everyone raved over my cake and they are all asking me for the recipe. I can't tell them it is a mix without looking like a fool. Should I find a regular white cake recipe in any old cookbook and give it to them or what?

TROUBLED CONSCIENCE

DEAR TROUBLED: Admit that you used a mix for the cake but give them the recipe for your frosting. You will make a lot of women happy by proving that you don't have to beat up your own batter to make it better.

DEAR ABBY: Can blushing be cured and if so, how? I work in an office and for almost no reason at all I blush like the setting sun when I laugh or when I am just a little bit uncomfortable. This awful blushing gives me away and I feel like crawling into a hole. Please, Abby, try to help me.

REDHEAD

DEAR REDHEAD: You blushers would blush even a deeper hue to know how refreshing it is to see a girl who can still blush. Get over the idea that it's something to be ashamed of and enjoy your individuality.

DEAR ABBY: I divorced my husband six years ago after I caught him giving our baby liquor in one of his bottles. I took the baby and left everything behind. Even my rings. I refused his support and went to work and got along nicely. Last week his sister called me and told me that my "ex" wanted to see me and the baby. She said he has joined "A.A." and had not had a drink in 3 years. My family says I'd be crazy to see him again. Maybe someone reading this has had experience with an alcoholic. Do they ever really change? Please help me decide what to do.

ONCE BURNT

DEAR ONCE: I would certainly see him and give him a chance to prove he has changed. If he had the stuff to stick with "A.A." for 3 years, he has probably learned his lesson.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe it's just my age, but I have become aware that my memory isn't as good as it used to be. I can't remember telephone numbers or addresses and sometimes important names escape me. Is this normal for people around fifty and is there anything I can do about it?

FORGETFUL

DEAR FORGETFUL: It's normal, so don't worry about it. A short pencil is better than a long memory.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LIVING WITH A DEVIL": Your man has become spiritually unbuttoned. You'll button him up faster with the help of your pastor.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

'EMBARRASSING'—Actress Debbie Reynolds said in Hollywood she has turned down Eddie Fisher's request for a "quickie" Nevada divorce that would free him to marry actress Elizabeth Taylor. Miss Reynolds said, "I haven't given my consent . . . I feel it would be embarrassing to my children to one day find out their father had two wives at the same time." Her California divorce, granted Feb. 19, does not become final under that state's law for one year.

Wife-Hiring Solon Gets Few Letters

WASHINGTON (AP)—The voters back home—judging from his mail—seem to be indifferent to the presence of Mrs. Eileen Levering on the payroll of her husband, Rep. Robert Levering (D-Ohio).

"I would say we haven't had more than 12 letters, and those weren't all from our district," Mrs. Levering, his $12,500-a-year secretary, said today.

"Some of them are critical. Some just want an explanation."

Where requested, Levering has carefully replied about the work his wife does. He says his wife, a lawyer, does far more than he would ask of anyone outside of his family.

One Democrat in Newark, Ohio, did take exception to a statement by Levering noting that his GOP predecessor, J. Harry McGregor, also had his wife on the payroll.

"Because it was traditional with the Republican in this district to hire his wife as his top aide is no reason," she wrote. "We Democrats would have liked to see you do differently."

On the other hand, a man in Coshocton wrote: "Don't give it a thought. Your wife is intelligent and beautiful."

A sampling of Levering's district mail on the subject shows he has received only two or three letters from Mount Vernon, one from Coshocton, none from Mansfield, one from Newark and a few more from smaller towns.

He received no letters at all from his own home town, Fredericktown.

Redecorating Committee Appointed by Salem WSCS

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Salem Methodist Church met last night at the church with 18 members and one guest, Miss Betty Boldoser, present.

Mrs. Donald Alcorn led the devotionals. She used for her topic "One In Christ — Progress in Ecumenicity." The group sang "This is My Father's World." Mrs. Marvin Konkle offered prayer.

The scripture lesson was taken from the 4th chapter of Ephesians, verses 1-8 and 11-16. Mrs. Alcorn gave a talk on the World Council of Churches. Mrs. Darl McAfee read "Cooperation on National and Interchurch levels." "Participation in the Wider Christian Fellowship" was read by Mrs. Ralph Ankrom.

The group sang "In Christ There Is No East or West." Mrs. Robert Parmer closed the devotions with prayer.

The Missionary Study was given by Mrs. Vera Miller and Mrs. Alcorn. They presented the outline on the meaning of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Alcorn, vice-president, presided over the business meeting. A report of four sick calls was made. The society voted to have the district officers training program in May at the church.

The vice-president appointed a committee to see about the redecorating of the church. Members of the committee are Mrs. Konkle, Mrs. William Bitzer, Mrs. McAfee and Mrs. Gerald Patrick.

At the close of the meeting, a salad course was served by hostesses, Mrs. Konkle, Mrs. Alva Dyer and Mrs. Ira Barr. An Easter theme was used in the table decorations.

Troop 205 Plans Pancake and Sausage Supper

Attending the meeting were Ed Grigg, Harry Metcalf, Charles Winner, Doyle Painter, committee chairman; Robert L. Steele, institutional representative; Gene Dowler, scoutmaster, and Bud Whitmore, assistant scoutmaster.

Discussion of last week's overnight camping trip to Scioto Trails was held. Those making the trip said they were rained out and forced to move to another campsite.

Changes Made In Social Security Laws

Back in 1954 and again in 1956 the social security law was changed to provide protection for people who are so severely disabled that they are unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity. The 1958 amendments made additional changes and improvements.

In changing the law last year, Congress recognized that the needs of the family of a person drawing disability insurance benefits are just as great as, or greater than, the needs of a family drawing regular social security benefits. In many cases the care needed by a disabled person prevents his wife from working, thereby increasing the family income. In addition, persons drawing disability insurance benefits frequently have high medical expenses.

Prior to the 1958 amendments, dependents of persons drawing disability insurance benefits were not entitled to benefits. Beginning with September 1958, payments can now be made to (1) unmarried children under age 18, (2) disabled children over age 18, provided the child's disability began before reaching age 18 and the child is still disabled (3) a wife under age 62 if she has an eligible child in her care (4) a wife, if she is 62 or older, (5) or a dependent husband if over age 65.

Under the old law a person could not, in some cases, receive his full social security disability amount if he was drawing disability benefits from another Federal agency or under a State Workmen's Compensation plan. Effective with the month of August 1958, this section of the law was repealed.

• • •

THE 1958 amendments also changed the amount of work required to be eligible for a "freeze" or disability insurance benefits. Before this change, a person not only had to have worked about 5 years out of the 10 years before he became disabled, but also must have had at least 1½ years of work out of the three years prior to his becoming disabled. The requirement that a person have 1½ years of work out of the three just prior to his disability has been repealed.

Prior to the 1958 changes, before a disabled child could draw benefits based on a parent's work record, dependency of the child on the parent had to be proved. This provision of the law has been repealed and now, in most cases, support of the child does not have to be proved by the parent.

It is important to remember that, although Congress made many changes in the law, no change was made in the requirements as to how severely disabled a person must be to qualify for monthly disability payments after reaching age 50, or to have an earnings record "frozen" at any age.

Fraudulent Ad Penalty Bill Is Filed in Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill has been introduced in the Ohio Senate which would penalize persons who engage in untrue or fraudulent advertising practices.

Sens. J. Sherman Porter (D-Gallipolis) and Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin) introduced the bill. Porter is associated with the radio industry, while Mosher is a weekly newspaper publisher.

The measure would authorize state agencies to suspend the license of any person convicted "for causing the publication of any advertising which is untrue or fraudulent." It would further provide that "no agency shall have the power to make rules which would otherwise limit or restrict the right of any person to advertise."

The legislation has the backing of the Ohio Newspaper Assn., which serves the 400 daily and weekly newspapers of the state, as well as other groups.

NOT WORRIED, JUST 'APPREHENSIVE' — Arriving in New York, where an eye specialist was to examine a blood clot that has half-blinded his left eye, 54-year-old comedian Bob Hope is kissed by American Airlines hostess Sue Victor at Idlewild airport. The clot developed when Hope was on a Christmas holiday tour of U. S. bases in Europe and Iceland. He said he wasn't worried, did feel "apprehensive."

2 Bills in Assembly Seek Congress District Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two bills were introduced in the Legislature this week to revamp Ohio congressional districts.

One, submitted by Reps. Thomas J. Barrett (D-Mahoning) and William M. Carney (D-Trumbull) was a proposal to reshuffle the counties in nine of the state's 23 districts.

Cuyahoga County's Democratic delegation in the House sponsored a measure to revise the four districts in that county. Two Republicans and two Democrats represent Cuyahoga in Congress.

The Cuyahoga proposal would divide Ohio's most populous county with two districts in the western section and two in the eastern area. Shifts in wards and suburbs would give Democrats a better chance in all four districts under the proposal.

Republicans hold congressional seats in seven of the nine districts up for revision in the other measure. Fifteen districts would remain untouched under that bill.

Democrats hold nine of the 23 seats in Ohio's congressional delegation. They gained three seats from Republicans in the election last November.

The governor also sent up a message calling for strengthening of the "conflict of interests" law designed to prevent public officials acting in dual capacities. DiSalle called for a ban to prevent an elected official from receiving anything of value from any state agency, corporation or individual for work done with a state agency.

The congressional redistricting bill headed toward some revision by legislative committees but majority Democrats appeared confident that revision is likely this session.

Congressional districts were last revised by the Republican-controlled General Assembly in 1951. The new proposal would undo some of those changes.

Districts in Cuyahoga, Hamilton and Franklin counties would be unchanged. But Republican strongholds were targets in the 4th, 5th 7th, 8th, and 13th districts.

Here are the counties proposed for revised districts:

3rd District—Montgomery County.

4th — Auglaize, Champaign, Clark, Darke, Madison, Mercer, Miami and Shelby.

5th — Allen, Defiance, Fulton, Henry, Paulding, Putnam, Van Wert, Williams and Wood.

7th — Butler, Clinton, Greene, Preble and Warren.

8th — Crawford, Hancock, Hardin, Logan, Seneca, Marion, Morrow, Union and Wyandot.

11th — Ashtabula, Geauga, Lake, Portage and all of Trumbull.

13th — Erie, Huron, Lorain, Medina, Ottawa, and Sandusky.

14th — Summit only.

19th—Mahoning only.

The revision would eliminate the split in Trumbull County between two districts. The southern part of Trumbull County is in the 19th District with Mahoning County. All of Trumbull County would go into the 11th District.

Khrush Seen Near Crisis in Policy

MOSCOW (AP)—Western diplomats in Moscow consider that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has reached a point of no return in his German policy.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, these diplomats say, learned on his visit that the Soviet premier is in deadly earnest about carrying out his proclaimed policy to write a separate peace treaty with East Germany and give the East German Communists control of the Allied supply lines to West Berlin.

But Macmillan made it equally clear to Khrushchev that the Western Allies will not budge an inch without "provision for proper alternatives," a British source said.

Some diplomats believe the Western Allies face one of the toughest periods of postwar diplomacy in the weeks ahead.

"The immediate task is to avoid a major international crisis in which errors on either side could stumble the world into war," said one Western ambassador.

Another Western envoy said he had advised his government several times that there is a very serious danger of war in the political conflict over Germany's future.

One ambassador felt the Soviet agreement to attend a foreign ministers conference lasting two or three months offered a "bare chance" of postponing the May 27 deadline set by the Soviets for turning over to the East Germans full control of the Berlin supply routes.

One of the dangers in the situation, according to informed diplomats, is that both East and West have landed themselves in "prestige position" over Germany.

As far as the U.S.S.R. is concerned, the position on Germany is believed to be a personal policy of Khrushchev.

A ranking Communist diplomat was quoted: "the Soviet program on Germany and Berlin is Khrushchev's personal policy to the same extent as his drives to boost corn production and to reshuffle industrial management in this country."

Ohio Liquor Price Boost Said Coming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's liquor prices are going up—when and in what amount to be determined after an extensive study, State Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch reported today.

Crouch said Gov. Michael V. DiSalle made clear in his budget message Tuesday night that an additional 20 million dollars is expected from liquor sales.

Without having completed a study of the situation, Crouch said this could amount to about a 10 per cent increase in prices.

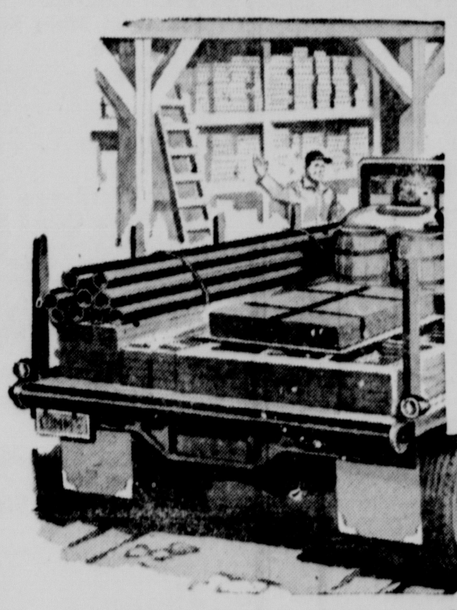

One of the things which must be estimated before increasing prices, Crouch said, is the amount of the drop in sales expected when prices increase.

Changes Made In Social Security Laws

Back in 1954 and again in 1956 the social security law was changed to provide protection for people who are so severely disabled that they are unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity. The 1958 amendments made additional changes and improvements.

In changing the law last year, Congress recognized that the needs of the family of a person drawing disability insurance benefits are just as great as, or greater than, the needs of a family drawing regular social security benefits. In many cases the care needed by a disabled person prevents his wife from working, thereby increasing the family income. In addition, persons drawing disability insurance benefits frequently have high medical expenses.

Prior to the 1958 amendments, dependents of persons drawing disability insurance benefits were not entitled to benefits. Beginning with September 1958, payments can now be made to (1) unmarried children under age 18, (2) disabled children over age 18, provided the child's disability began before reaching age 18 and the child is still disabled (3) a wife under age 62 if she has an eligible child in her care (4) a wife, if she is 62 or older, (5) or a dependent husband if over age 65.

Under the old law a person could not, in some cases, receive his full social security disability amount if he was drawing disability benefits from another Federal agency or under a State Workmen's Compensation plan. Effective with the month of August 1958, this section of the law was repealed.

• • •

THE 1958 amendments also changed the amount of work required to be eligible for a "freeze" or disability insurance benefits. Before this change, a person not only had to have worked about 5 years out of the 10 years before he became disabled, but also must have had at least 1½ years of work out of the three years prior to his becoming disabled. The requirement that a person have 1½ years of work out of the three just prior to his disability has been repealed.

Prior to the 1958 changes, before a disabled child could draw benefits based on a parent's work record, dependency of the child on the parent had to be proved. This provision of the law has been repealed and now, in most cases, support of the child does not have to be proved by the parent.

It is important to remember that, although Congress made many changes in the law, no change was made in the requirements as to how severely disabled a person must be to qualify for monthly disability payments after reaching age 50, or to have an earnings record "frozen" at any age.

Fraudulent Ad Penalty Bill Is Filed in Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill has been introduced in the Ohio Senate which would penalize persons who engage in untrue or fraudulent advertising practices.

Sens. J. Sherman Porter (D-Gallipolis) and Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin) introduced the bill. Porter is associated with the radio industry, while Mosher is a weekly newspaper publisher.

The measure would authorize state agencies to suspend the license of any person convicted "for causing the publication of any advertising which is untrue or fraudulent." It would further provide that "no agency shall have the power to make rules which would otherwise limit or restrict the right of any person to advertise."

The legislation has the backing of the Ohio Newspaper Assn., which serves the 400 daily and weekly newspapers of the state, as well as other groups.

NOT WORRIED, JUST 'APPREHENSIVE' — Arriving in New York, where an eye specialist was to examine a blood clot that has half-blinded his left eye, 54-year-old comedian Bob Hope is kissed by American Airlines hostess Sue Victor at Idlewild airport. The clot developed when Hope was on a Christmas holiday tour of U. S. bases in Europe and Iceland. He said he wasn't worried, did feel "apprehensive."

2 Bills in Assembly Seek Congress District Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two bills were introduced in the Legislature this week to revamp Ohio congressional districts.

One, submitted by Reps. Thomas J. Barrett (D-Mahoning) and William M. Carney (D-Trumbull) was a proposal to reshuffle the counties in nine of the state's 23 districts.

Cuyahoga County's Democratic delegation in the House sponsored a measure to revise the four districts in that county. Two Republicans and two Democrats represent Cuyahoga in Congress.

The Cuyahoga proposal would divide Ohio's most populous county with two districts in the western section and two in the eastern area. Shifts in wards and suburbs would give Democrats a better chance in all four districts under the proposal.

Republicans hold congressional seats in seven of the nine districts up for revision in the other measure. Fifteen districts would remain untouched under that bill.

Democrats hold nine of the 23 seats in Ohio's congressional delegation. They gained three seats from Republicans in the election last November.

The governor also sent up a message calling for strengthening of the "conflict of interests" law designed to prevent public officials acting in dual capacities. DiSalle called for a ban to prevent an elected official from receiving anything of value from any state agency, corporation or individual for work done with a state agency.

The congressional redistricting bill headed toward some revision by legislative committees but majority Democrats appeared confident that revision is likely this session.

Congressional districts were last revised by the Republican-controlled General Assembly in 1951. The new proposal would undo some of those changes.

Districts in Cuyahoga, Hamilton and Franklin counties would be unchanged. But Republican strongholds were targets in the 4th, 5th 7th, 8th, and 13th districts.

Here are the counties proposed for revised districts:

3rd District—Montgomery County.

4th — Auglaize, Champaign, Clark, Darke, Madison, Mercer, Miami and Shelby.

5th — Allen, Defiance, Fulton, Henry, Paulding, Putnam, Van Wert, Williams and Wood.

7th — Butler, Clinton, Greene, Preble and Warren.

8th — Crawford, Hancock, Hardin, Logan, Seneca, Marion, Morrow, Union and Wyandot.

11th — Ashtabula, Geauga, Lake, Portage and all of Trumbull.

13th — Erie, Huron, Lorain, Medina, Ottawa, and Sandusky.

14th — Summit only.

19th—Mahoning only.

The revision would eliminate the split in Trumbull County between two districts. The southern part of Trumbull County is in the 19th District with Mahoning County. All of Trumbull County would go into the 11th District.

Khrush Seen Near Crisis in Policy

MOSCOW (AP)—Western diplomats in Moscow consider that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has reached a point of no return in his German policy.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, these diplomats say, learned on his visit that the Soviet premier is in deadly earnest about carrying out his proclaimed policy to write a separate peace treaty with East Germany and give the East German Communists control of the Allied supply lines to West Berlin.

But Macmillan made it equally clear to Khrushchev that the Western Allies will not budge an inch without "provision for proper alternatives," a British source said.

Some diplomats believe the Western Allies face one of the toughest periods of postwar diplomacy in the weeks ahead.

"The immediate task is to avoid a major international crisis in which errors on either side could stumble the world into war," said one Western ambassador.

Another Western envoy said he had advised his government several times that there is a very serious danger of war in the political conflict over Germany's future.

One ambassador felt the Soviet agreement to attend a foreign ministers conference lasting two or three months offered a "bare chance" of postponing the May 27 deadline set by the Soviets for turning over to the East Germans full control of the Berlin supply routes.

One of the dangers in the situation, according to informed diplomats, is that both East and West have landed themselves in "prestige position" over Germany.

As far as the U.S.S.R. is concerned, the position on Germany is believed to be a personal policy of Khrushchev.

A ranking Communist diplomat was quoted: "the Soviet program on Germany and Berlin is Khrushchev's personal policy to the same extent as his drives to boost corn production and to reshuffle industrial management in this country."

Ohio Liquor Price Boost Said Coming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's liquor prices are going up—when and in what amount to be determined after an extensive study, State Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch reported today.

Crouch said Gov. Michael V. DiSalle made clear in his budget message Tuesday night that an additional 20 million dollars is expected from liquor sales.

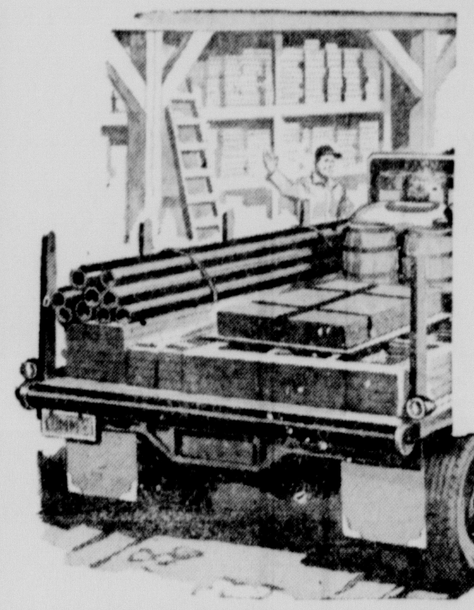

Without having completed a study of the situation, Crouch said this could amount to about a 10 per cent increase in prices.

One of the things which must be estimated before increasing prices, Crouch said, is the amount of the drop in sales expected when prices increase.

DiSalle Has Faith In Tax Solution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle believes he has the answer to Ohio's financial needs for several years to come, but he presented it warily the other night in his budget message to the Legislature.

He suggested—but avoided a direct recommendation—that the historic sales tax exemption on materials "directly used" in manufacturing and agriculture be lifted.

The governor told newsmen in advance of delivery of the message that lifting of the exemption might actually attract new industry to Ohio rather than drive it away.

He reasoned that such action might assure prospective industries of a stable tax structure in Ohio and remove the fear of some unexpected and drastic tax on industry in the future. He added:

"If this would bring tax stability, they ought to buy it."

DiSalle estimated that the removal of the "directly used" exemptions would give the state government another 110 million dollars in a two-year period—enough money to meet the needs for the foreseeable future. But, indicating his wariness, he added:

"Yet I am quite aware that it is not always the realities of the situation that are governing, but indeed psychological factors also are of importance.

"That there would be considerable opposition to the repeal of the direct use exceptions is known. The fact that this opposition would be quite vocal is of little moment in my personal feelings if the action is proper and necessary.

"But should this clamor of itself create an atmosphere of hindrance to our economic growth it would then be of real concern to me."

DiSalle warned that if the suggested step is not taken it will be necessary to find new revenue sources in a short time. But, he added:

"If it is your decision to remove these exceptions I will stand with you. If your decision is to retain them, I will not be critical of you."

Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) commented:

"We must try to keep the tax climate in Ohio favorable to attract new industry. And if the governor's proposal includes agricultural material, as I am sure it does, I am sure the farmers are not going to like it."

Four Objectives Stressed by 4-H

The term "4-H" refers to "head", "heart", "hands", and "health", which are emphasized in the club program and which imply these educational objectives of members:

HEAD—to learn the value of science through applying the latest scientific knowledge to farming and homemaking projects.

HEART—to develop wholesome character and personality and the qualities of good citizenship, often through working together.

HANDS—to acquire useful skills in farming, homemaking, mechanics, and vocational trades.

HEALTH—to cultivate good health habits which lead to satisfying, happy living.

House Panel Gives Nod To Lake Diversion Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee has approved a bill to permit Chicago to divert more water from Lake Michigan.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien (D-Ill), is opposed by Canada and six Great Lakes states, including Ohio. The opponents say additional diversion would damage shipping and power projects by lowering Great Lakes levels.

Ike Studies Bid On Flood Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Robert W. Levering (D-Ohio) said today the White House has notified him that the President has under study the legislator's recent request that the ban on new flood control starts be lifted.

Levering represents Ohio's 17th Congressional District comprising Ashland, Richland, Knox, Licking, Holmes and Coshocton counties, where January floods caused damage.

"I am sure that if the President will study the situation thoroughly," Levering said, "in relation to my district, and to other areas which have suffered enormous flood damage, he will come to the same logical conclusion that my people and I have reached. Money spent on flood control is not wasted, but is simple insurance against disaster."

4-H Work Is Family Affair

4-H club work is a family affair. Many 4-H members succeed without family assistance, but most need the help of their parents.

You, as a parent, can help your boy or girl by helping them decide on a project and then obtaining the necessary materials or animals. You will want to see that your child gets to all 4-H club meetings, and that he can participate in some county 4-H activities.

Your child will need some help in working with his project and in keeping records. Yes, your help will make a better club member and future citizen of your son or daughter.

You as a parent will gain from 4-H club work by: seeing your child succeed, having an activity in which both you and your child can participate, learning new ideas from your child, and by meeting new friends through 4-H.

Have you helped get your son or daughter enrolled in 4-H club work? Do so this week. National 4-H Club Week is the time.

Lima Man Slated For Tax Hearing

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) —Harold Weaver, a nearby Sycamore tavern operator, was bound to the Wyandot County Grand Jury under $1,500 bond today on first degree manslaughter charges.

The sheriff's office reported witnesses as saying Weaver escorted Mrs. Patsy Coleen Neff, 34, of Sycamore, to the door of the tavern Feb. 14. Other witnesses said they found the woman outside the door, badly injured.

Mrs. Neff died the following day in a Columbus hospital after brain surgery. The Wyandot County coroner ruled the cause of death as a blood clot on the brain.

Pickaway Grange Report

WASHINGTON GRANGE

Washington Grange met recently to observe "Operation Forwarl Night" to create interest among members and to invite friends to attend.

In the absence of the Worthy Master, Nelson Stevens, the Worthy Overseer, Ralph De Long, presided over the open meeting. Announcement was made of the Pickaway County Youth Card Party to be held at the Fairgrounds' Coliseum on March 14 and donations were solicited.

The chairman of the Home Economics Committee reminded the members of the contests to be held this year which will be crocheted articles, tea aprons, work aprons, lresses and brownies. The brownie contest is open to both men and women. She asked the members to participate in these contests.

It was announced that the Grange will serve a sausage and pancake supper on March 14 at Washington School from 5 until 7 p. m. Tickets may be obtained from members.

• • •

TO PROMOTE BETTER understanding and friendship the Worthy Lecturer offered names and addresses of young people in India who would like to correspond with young Americans and receive American magazines to learn more about our way of life and, in turn, we would learn more of their country. A total of 32 members and guests were present.

The program in charge of the Worthy Lecturer, Weta Mae Leist, opened with a recitation by Judy Rhinehart. Miss Leist then presented Sterley Croman who gave an interesting lecture on Hawaii. This was accompanied by slides which were taken on the trip to Hawaii. A song by the group closed the program.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph DeLong, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Justice, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Marshall and Mr. Paul Marshall.

MT. PLEASANT

Mt. Pleasant Grange met in regular session Wednesday evening at Wayne Twp. School with Master Dorsey Bumgarner in charge.

We also voted on three candidates who received the first and second degrees. The degrees were givn by our Youth Team. The Grange is very proud of them and their instructor, George Mallett.

Due to the degree work and practice for the Ritualistic Contest we did not have a literary program. The third and fourth degrees will be conferred on five candidates at the next meeting at 7:30 p. m. March 11.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schein and their committee.

Guideposts Used By 4-H Leaders

During National 4-H Club Week and throughout the year ten guideposts are used by cooperative extension workers and volunteer leaders to aid 4-H members in analyzing their situations, needs and interests.

These point the way to building programs that will prepare the young people for better living — physically, mentally and spiritually:

1. Develop talents for greater usefulness.
2. Join with friends for work, fun, and fellowship.
3. Learn to live in a changing world.
4. Choose a way to earn a living.
5. Produce food and fiber for home and market.
6. Create better homes for better living.
7. Conserve nature's resources for security and happiness.
8. Build health for a strong America.
9. Share responsibilities for community improvement.
10. Serve as citizen in maintaining world peace.

4-H Emblem Based On Cloverleaf

The national 4-H emblem is a four-leaf clover, with a letter "H" on each leaf. Club colors are green and white.

The white background of the 4-H flag symbolizes purity; the green of the emblem represents nature's most common color, and is also symbolic of youth, life and growth. The national pledge reads:

"I pledge—My HEAD to clearer thinking, My HEART to greater loyalty, My HANDS to larger service, My HEALTH to better living, for my club, my community and my country."

Sound Farming FHA Objective

Loans Available At Chillicothe

The objective of the Operating Loan program of the Farmers Home Administration is to help farm families become established successfully in a sound and well-balanced system of farming.

It also desires to help farmers make full and efficient use of their land and labor resources. These objectives are accomplished through the extension of credit and farm management assistance.

Loans may be made to pay for livestock, farm and home equipment, feed, seed, lime and fertilizer, and when necessary to pay other farm operating and family living expenses.

Loans may also be made to refinance debts on livestock, farm equipment and harvested feed where such action is necessary to assure a sound farming operation.

• • •

THE AMOUNT of the loan and the repayment period depend upon the needs of the applicant as determined by his plan of operation and ability to repay. The interest is 5 per cent per year on the unpaid balance and the loans are repayable over periods up to seven years.

In addition to the Operating Loan program, the Farmers Home Administration also has a Farm Ownership Loan program for the purchase or development of family type farms, a Farm Housing Loan program for improvement of farm buildings and a Soil and Water Conservation Loan program.

The Farmers Home Administration office is located at 27½ E. Second St., Chillicothe. This office serves Pickaway, Ross and Pike Counties.

Information may be obtained at the office or by contacting any of the Pickaway County FHA Committee members. They are Joseph C. Peters, Route 1, Ashville, Dick T. Tootle, Route 2, or Pearl J. Zimmer, Route 2, Orient.

4-H Members Form Policy For Own Club

During National 4-H Club Week let us consider how 4-H clubs operate. As in the democracy in which they live, 4-H'ers themselves largely run their clubs, elect their officers, help plan and hold their meetings and select their projects. Each club drafts its own programs to suit its members and the localities in which they live.

To guide 4-H'ers, thousands of public - spirited men and women, mostly parents, serve as unpaid volunteer local leaders. Some of these are older club members or youth who assist as junior leaders.

The leaders are trained, counseled, and assisted by the county agents of the Cooperative Extension Service, who have available to them the vast stores of scientific knowledge in the State land-grant colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Leaders advise and encourage 4-H'ers in planning and carrying out projects, attend meetings, visit members to see how projects are getting along, offer suggestions where needed, and accompany members to club events outside the community.

County and State council groups are active in many areas to help plan and conduct various phases of 4-H Club Work. Such groups add vitality to the program. They provide a chance for many interested and qualified persons to share in determining the course and extending the values of 4-H club work.

Today's Top Women Utilize Charm, Not Aggressiveness

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Today's ambitious woman cultivates her charm rather than her aggressiveness, says J. Christopher Herold. He is the winner of the 1959 National Book Award for his biolgraphy of Madame de Stael, the 18th Century French charmer who influenced the course of history through her choice of lovers.

In his prize-winning book, "Mistress to an Age," Herold paints a life-size picture of a woman whose zest for love, life and freethinking probably changed the course of the French Revolution and certainly shook the self-confidence of Napoleon.

"Madame de Stael, if she were living today, would never aspire to be president. But she probably would wield more power than a president, by influencing the actions of the men who make history," he said.

Herold, who was born in Czechoslovakia, educated in Switzerland and now lives in Los Altos, Calif., is editor-in-chief of the Stanford University Press and author of three previous scholarly works.

The flamboyant Germaine Necker, who became Baronne de Stael, was married to the Swedish ambassador to the court of Louis XVI, and thereafter carried on love affairs, often concurrently, with most political, literary and philosophical figures of the day. Her influence on French politics and literature was felt for three decades.

"Her conquests were due to her personality and not to her beauty" says Herold, "as she often is described as an ugly woman. But somehow she managed to charm most people who came in contract with her."

Jesus Faces the Cross

CHRIST TELLS HIS DISCIPLES THAT ONE OF THEM WILL BETRAY HIM

Scripture—Mark 14:12-42.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

OUR LESSON today tells the sad story of Christ's knowledge that one of His own apostles would betray Him to His enemies and cause His death on the cross.

Possibly some who read of it may have had the same experience of having a supposed close friend begin a "whispering" campaign to discredit him. Even a little child may have had the experience, and many older people too.

Why would this sinless Man, who had taught the good way of life and repentance of sin, who had become beloved of the common people, be betrayed for a paltry sum to His enemies by one who had been so close to Him, one who had heard His teachings and seen how He lived? That is a mystery we cannot solve.

It was the first day of the observance of the Passover, which was "first observed 3,300 years ago," according to Dr. Wilbur M. Smith in Peloubet's Select Notes. We have studied the dramatic episode when God released the Jewish nation from their Egyptian bondage by passing over their blood-marked houses and letting them cross the Jordan river to escape the persuing Egyptians, so we need not retell it here. The Passover is still celebrated today.

The disciples asked Jesus where they would eat the Passover. He sent out two of them, telling them to go into the city and follow a man bearing a pitcher of water. He would lead them to the place. They did so, and were led to a "large upper room in a house," where they made ready for the feast.

When all was ready, Christ and all the 12 came. "And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, one of you which eateth with Me shall betray Me." —Mark 14:17-18.

Imagine the dismay of the 12 when the Lord said this! Each one asked Him, in great sorrow, "Is it I?" Jesus said: "It is one of the 12, that dippeth with Me in the dish."—Mark 14-20.

Then Christ took a piece of bread, blessed it and gave it to His companions to eat, saying, "Take, eat: this is My body." And He took wine and gave it them to drink, saying, "This is my blood . . . which is shed for many."—Mark 14:22-24.

After the Passover was eaten they sang a hymn, then went to the Mount of Olives. Jesus told them there that they would be offended because of Him that night. Peter said that even if the others were offended he would not be. Christ replied, "This day, even in this night, before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny Me thrice."—Mark 14:26-30. Peter vehemently denied the Lord's words, saying he gladly would die with his Master.

At a place called Gethsemane Jesus went aside to pray, telling the apostles to stay where they were. He took only Peter, James and John with Him, asking them to watch. In great sorrow Christ fell on the ground and prayed, saying: "Abba, Father, all things are possible unto Thee; take away this cup from Me: nevertheless not what I will, but what Thou wilt."—Mark 14:34-36.

Coming back to His three companions whom He had asked to watch, He found them asleep. Of Peter He asked sadly: "Simon, sleepest thou? Couldest not thou watch one hour?"—Mark 14:37.

Three times Jesus went to pray the same prayer, and each time He found His friends sleeping on His return. Then He said: "Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough, the hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. Rise up, let us go; lo, he that betrayeth Me is at hand."—Mark 14:37-42.

Let us search our own souls. Would we, either young or old, be true to Him who died to save us? Do we, in our daily lives, remain true to His teachings and speak out for Him when we are faced with temptation or denial of our faith? When our friends are slandered do we defend them? And can we pray as Christ did, resigning our wills to the Almighty will?

MEMORY VERSE

"Not what I will, but what Thou wilt."—Mark 14:36.

OSU To Host Farm Week

The Ohio State University will again be host to thousands of farmers next March at its annual Farm and Home Week, according to L. L. Rummell, dean of the College of Agriculture. Dates have been set for March 24, 25 and 26, which come between quarters of the college year.

Several prominent speakers, along with exhibits and demonstrations, will feature the program. A committee including C. S. Hutchison, Dorothy Scott, W. B. Wood, R. D. Barden, and Mervin Smith is already at work preparing special attractions setting forth latest information in the College of Agriculture, the School of Home Economics, and the Agricultural Experiment Station. The Agricultural Extension Service will cooperate in staging the program.

The machinery show, always a leading attraction of the week, will again be held in the French Field House. Here the major manufacturers display the newest lines of tractors and machinery. Demonstrations will be conducted in agricultural engineering there.

A main event of the week is the businessmen - farmers luncheon, sponsored by the university in cooperation with the Ohio Bankers' Association.

Automotive Care Available to County 4-Hers

Automotive care is one of the relatively new 4-H projects which is available for the youth of the county. The auto project is available for two years as a project and is designed for both boys and girls 15 years of age and up.

It is designed to be used in a club where all members are carrying this one project. To date no youth has taken this project in Pickaway County.

In first year the member will discuss and—or participate in: 1. importance of automobile, 2. highway safety, 3. knowing the parts of the car, 4. proper care of car, 5. making the car run, 6. understanding how the car runs, 7. keeping car records, 8. highway hazard hunt.

The second year includes topics on: 1. safety, 2. the power of the engine, 3. carburation, 4. ignition, 5. colling system, 6. lubrication, 7. tires, 8. keeping records, 9. special club activities.

If you think youth in your community needs this type project, the County Extension Agent, 4-H will be glad to assist you in organizing a club and obtaining supplies. The minimum requirements for a 4-H club is to have 6 members and an advisor.

Church Briefs

The Derby Methodist Church will hold an official board meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the church.

Revival services will continue through the weekend at the Ringgold EUB Church with services nightly at 7:30 o'clock and 10:30 a. m. Sunday. The Rev. William Snyder is the evangelist and The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Peters, special singers.

Ohio Execution Toll Tops U.S.: Death Penalty Favor Wanes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio executed six men last year—the top number in the nation for any state and tied only by California, Texas and Georgia.

Nevertheless, the figures—available at the Bureau of Prisons — show that in Ohio, as elsewhere, capital punishment is declining in favor.

In view of Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's proposal to abolish capital punishment, and two bills in the General Assembly calling for an end to it, the subject may be worth additional scrutiny.

This is what the bureau's tabulations show:

Only 15 states had any executions at all last year, and those that did executed 48. That meant Ohio, California, Texas and Georgia accounted for half of the executions in the country.

As an illustration of the decline in executions, Ohio had 15 in its peak year, 1949, compared with last year's six.

"There is no doubt at all there is a widespread opposition develment," says James A. McCafferty, a criminologist at the Bureau of Prisons.

"Aside from Ohio, there are movements against it in . . . New Jersey, California, Massachusetts, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, Connecticut, Florida and Tennessee."

McCafferty knows his subject. In fact, he got a lot of his information from lifers at Ohio Penitentiary while he was gaining his master's degree at Ohio State University in the late 1940s.

Spittlebugs Loom as Threat Come Spring

Spittlebugs will be present in damaging numbers in both red clover and alfalfa next spring, according to a survey conducted in Ohio.

The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station research entomologists report the survey showed that spittlebug populations will be high enough to reduce the tonnage of the first growth unless fields are sprayed next spring with recommended insecticides.

Twenty - one representative counties were surveyed for populations of adult spittlebugs that lay eggs on grain stubble in fields seeded to clover and alfalfa. (A county of adults in September forecasts accurately whether there will be enough bugs in the fields to cause damage the next spring.) All counties may expect injurious numbers of spittlebugs, the entomologists predict, with the exception of the four counties bordering Western Lake Erie, and even there it would be advisable to spray any field with a past history of spittlebug damage.

Spittlebug control is one of the best buys in farming, but many fields are not sprayed. Research in Ohio has shown that the first growth of red clover is very sensitive to spittlebug, and that a farmer reasonably may expect at least 25 percent more red clover hay if spittlebug is controlled.

Alfalfa is not as sensitive as red clover, according to the entomologists, but the record shows increase of 15 percent or more hay as a direct result of spittlebug control. On a 10 acre field where spittlebug is controlled, a farmer can expect to harvest 5 tons more or 20 percent moisture hay. He not only will get more hay but also better hay with more legume in proportion to grass. For the cost of insecticide plus application, that 5 ton increase is the best buy in feed on the farm, say the entomologists.

Two Million Enjoy 4-H

This is National 4-H Club Week —a time for recognition of more than two million 4-H youths throughout the country. 4-H'ers in 49 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico are carrying on interesting and worthwhile projects in farming, homemaking, community service and other activities. Pickaway County has over 800 members who belong to clubs.

Helping 4-H youth everywhere are state and county agricultural extension workers, local volunteer leaders and parents. This year, 4-H Week events will especially honor outstanding 4-H "alumni" among the 20,000,000 men and women throughout America who have take part in the 4-H program since the movement started in the early 1900's.

If you are between 10 and 21 years old, and want to "learn by doing", which is the club slogan, you may qualify to become a 4-H member. If you are older, you may qualify as a leader. For more information, write, telephone or visit the County Extension Office at 159½ E. Main St. in Circleville.

3 Residents Serving On Federal Jury

Three Pickaway County residents this week are serving on the Southeast District Federal Court Petit Jury in Columbus.

They are Charles M. Niles, Route 3; Mrs. Martha Poling, Route 4, and Wendell Tarbill, Atlanta. A total of 50 persons are fulfilling their civic duty this week.

4-H Congress Trip Is High Local Award

The highest 4-H award received by any member in Pickaway County was a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Nancy Wilson and Roger Schneider won this award in 1958.

Between the time they started 4-H and last year, they won many awards of those available for 4-H club members. Each 4-H member who completes his project receives an award of a certificate, a pin, a ribbon, and a cash prize. Many special keys, pins, trophies, and other merchandise are provided for members with outstanding projects or who do excellent work with their project.

Other awards are available to members who win in demonstrations, safety speaking, health, recreation and rural arts, superior camping, and in judging contests. Many of these winners become eligible to participate in state contests.

Older 4-H members become eligible then for trips to Jr. Leadership Camp, Conservation Camp, Buckeye Recreation Workshop, and Ohio Club Congress.

All 4-H members are eligible to participate in nearly all 4-H events and compete for the several thousands of dollars worth of trophies, cash, ribbons, trips, and other awards available each year.

Tavern Operator Accused in Death

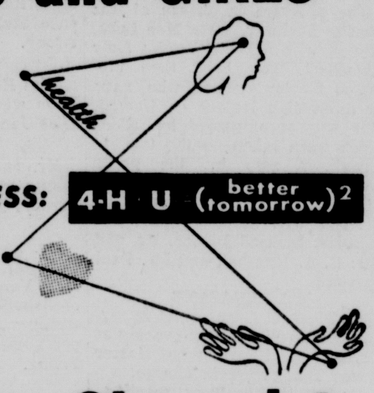

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Lima man who works days as a hospital porter and nights as a night club entertainer appeared before U.S. Commissioner John J. Barone Wednesday on an income tax charge.

Shellie L. Spencer, 37, of 1228 W. Spring St., is accused of failing to file tax returns for 1954 and 1955 when his income was $8,579. An Internal Revenue Service agent said Spencer had not filed returns from 1942 to 1956, although the case against him is based on only 1954 and 1955.

Barone set bond at $2,000, pending a further hearing.

Spencer is employed as a porter at St. Rita's Hospital in Lima and as a master of ceremonies at Oliver's Night Club.

OUR LESSON today tells the sad story of Christ's knowledge that one of His own apostles would betray Him to His enemies and cause His death on the cross.

Possibly some who read of it may have had the same experience of having a supposed close friend begin a "whispering" campaign to discredit him. Even a little child may have had the experience, and many older people too.

Why would this sinless Man, who had taught the good way of life and repentance of sin, who had become beloved of the common people, be betrayed for a paltry sum to His enemies by one who had been so close to Him, one who had heard His teachings and seen how He lived? That is a mystery we cannot solve.

It was the first day of the observance of the Passover, which was "first observed 3,300 years ago," according to Dr. Wilbur M. Smith in Peloubet's Select Notes. We have studied the dramatic episode when God released the Jewish nation from their Egyptian bondage by passing over their blood-marked houses and letting them cross the Jordan river to escape the persuing Egyptians, so we need not retell it here. The Passover is still celebrated today.

The disciples asked Jesus where they would eat the Passover. He sent out two of them, telling them to go into the city and follow a man bearing a pitcher of water. He would lead them to the piece. They did so, and were led to a "large upper room in a house," where they made ready for the feast.

When all was ready, Christ and all the 12 came. "And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, one of you which eateth with Me shall betray Me." —Mark 14:17-18.

Imagine the dismay of the 12 when the Lord said this! Each one asked Him, in great sorrow, "Is it I?" Jesus said: "It is one of the 12, that dippeth with Me in the dish."—Mark 14-20.

Then Christ took a piece of bread, blessed it and gave it to His companions to eat, saying, "Take, eat: this is My body." And He took wine and gave it them to drink, saying, "This is my blood . . . which is shed for many."—Mark 14:22-24.

After the Passover was eaten they sang a hymn, then went to the Mount of Olives. Jesus told them there that they would be offended because of Him that night. Peter said that even if the others were offended he would not be. Christ replied, "This day, even in this night, before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny Me thrice."—Mark 14:26-30. Peter vehemently denied the Lord's words, saying he gladly would die with his Master.

At a place called Gethsemane Jesus went aside to pray, telling the apostles to stay where they were. He took only Peter, James and John with Him, asking them to watch. In great sorrow Christ fell on the ground and prayed, saying: "Abba, Father, all things are possible unto Thee; take away this cup from Me: nevertheless not what I will, but what Thou wilt."—Mark 14:34-36.

Coming back to His three companions whom He had asked to watch, He found them asleep. Of Peter He asked sadly: "Simon, sleepest thou? Couldest not thou watch one hour?"—Mark 14:37.

Three times Jesus went to pray the same prayer, and each time He found His friends sleeping on His return. Then He said: "Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough, the hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. Rise up, let us go; lo, he that betrayeth Me is at hand."—Mark 14:37-42.

Let us search our own souls. Would we, either young or old, be true to Him who died to save us? Do we, in our daily lives, remain true to His teachings and speak out for Him when we are faced with temptation or denial of our faith? When our friends are slandered do we defend them? And can we pray as Christ did, resigning our wills to the Almighty will?

OSU To Host Farm Week

The Ohio State University will again be host to thousands of farmers next March at its annual Farm and Home Week, according to L. L. Rummell, dean of the College of Agriculture. Dates have been set for March 24, 25 and 26, which come between quarters of the college year.

Several prominent speakers, along with exhibits and demonstrations, will feature the program. A committee including C. S. Hutchison, Dorothy Scott, W. B. Wood, R. D. Barden, and Mervin Smith is already at work preparing special attractions setting forth latest information in the College of Agriculture, the School of Home Economics, and the Agricultural Experiment Station. The Agricultural Extension Service will cooperate in staging the program.

The machinery show, always a leading attraction of the week, will again be held in the French Field House. Here the major manufacturers display the newest lines of tractors and machinery. Demonstrations will be conducted in agricultural engineering there.

A main event of the week is the businessmen - farmers luncheon, sponsored by the university in cooperation with the Ohio Bankers' Association.

Automotive Care Available to County 4-Hers

Automotive care is one of the relatively new 4-H projects which is available for the youth of the county. The auto project is available for two years as a project and is designed for both boys and girls 15 years of age and up.

It is designed to be used in a club where all members are carrying this one project. To date no youth has taken this project in Pickaway County.

In first year the member will discuss and—or participate in: 1. importance of automobile, 2. highway safety, 3. knowing the parts of the car, 4. proper care of car, 5. making the car run, 6. understanding how the car runs, 7. keeping car records, 8. highway hazard hunt.

The second year includes topics on: 1. safety, 2. the power of the engine, 3. carburation, 4. ignition, 5. colling system, 6. lubrication, 7. tires, 8. keeping records, 9. special club activities.

If you think youth in your community needs this type project, the County Extension Agent, 4-H will be glad to assist you in organizing a club and obtaining supplies. The minimum requirements for a 4-H club is to have 6 members and an advisor.

Church Briefs

The Derby Methodist Church will hold an official board meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the church.

Revival services will continue through the weekend at the Ringgold EUB Church with services nightly at 7:30 o'clock and 10:30 a. m. Sunday. The Rev. William Snyder is the evangelist and The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Peters, special singers.

Ohio Execution Toll Tops U.S.: Death Penalty Favor Wanes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio executed six men last year—the top number in the nation for any state and tied only by California, Texas and Georgia.

Nevertheless, the figures—available at the Bureau of Prisons — show that in Ohio, as elsewhere, capital punishment is declining in favor.

In view of Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's proposal to abolish capital punishment, and two bills in the General Assembly calling for an end to it, the subject may be worth additional scrutiny.

This is what the bureau's tabulations show:

Only 15 states had any executions at all last year, and those that did executed 48. That meant Ohio, California, Texas and Georgia accounted for half of the executions in the country.

As an illustration of the decline in executions, Ohio had 15 in its peak year, 1949, compared with last year's six.

"There is no doubt at all there is a widespread opposition develment," says James A. McCafferty, a criminologist at the Bureau of Prisons.

"Aside from Ohio, there are movements against it in . . . New Jersey, California, Massachusetts, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, Connecticut, Florida and Tennessee."

McCafferty knows his subject. In fact, he got a lot of his information from lifers at Ohio Penitentiary while he was gaining his master's degree at Ohio State University in the late 1940s.

Spittlebugs Loom as Threat Come Spring

Spittlebugs will be present in damaging numbers in both red clover and alfalfa next spring, according to a survey conducted in Ohio.

The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station research entomologists report the survey showed that spittlebug populations will be high enough to reduce the tonnage of the first growth unless fields are sprayed next spring with recommended insecticides.

Twenty - one representative counties were surveyed for populations of adult spittlebugs that lay eggs on grain stubble in fields seeded to clover and alfalfa. (A county of adults in September forecasts accurately whether there will be enough bugs in the fields to cause damage the next spring.) All counties may expect injurious numbers of spittlebugs, the entomologists predict, with the exception of the four counties bordering Western Lake Erie, and even there it would be advisable to spray any field with a past history of spittlebug damage.

Spittlebug control is one of the best buys in farming, but many fields are not sprayed. Research in Ohio has shown that the first growth of red clover is very sensitive to spittlebug, and that a farmer reasonably may expect at least 25 percent more red clover hay if spittlebug is controlled.

Alfalfa is not as sensitive as red clover, according to the entomologists, but the record shows increase of 15 percent or more hay as a direct result of spittlebug control. On a 10 acre field where spittlebug is controlled, a farmer can expect to harvest 5 tons more or 20 percent moisture hay. He not only will get more hay but also better hay with more legume in proportion to grass. For the cost of insecticide plus application, that 5 ton increase is the best buy in feed on the farm, say the entomologists.

3 Residents Serving On Federal Jury

Three Pickaway County residents this week are serving on the Southeast District Federal Court Petit Jury in Columbus.

They are Charles M. Niles, Route 3; Mrs. Martha Poling, Route 4, and Wendell Tarbill, Atlanta. A total of 50 persons are fulfilling their civic duty this week.

Two Million Enjoy 4-H

This is National 4-H Club Week —a time for recognition of more than two million 4-H youths throughout the country. 4-H'ers in 49 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico are carrying on interesting and worthwhile projects in farming, homemaking, community service and other activities. Pickaway County has over 800 members who belong to clubs.

Helping 4-H youth everywhere are state and county agricultural extension workers, local volunteer leaders and parents. This year, 4-H Week events will especially honor outstanding 4-H "alumni" among the 20,000,000 men and women throughout America who have take part in the 4-H program since the movement started in the early 1900's.

If you are between 10 and 21 years old, and want to "learn by doing", which is the club slogan, you may qualify to become a 4-H member. If you are older, you may qualify as a leader. For more information, write, telephone or visit the County Extension Office at 159½ E. Main St. in Circleville.

4-H Congress Trip Is High Local Award

The highest 4-H award received by any member in Pickaway County was a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Nancy Wilson and Roger Schneider won this award in 1958.

Between the time they started 4-H and last year, they won many awards of those available for 4-H club members. Each 4-H member who completes his project receives an award of a certificate, a pin, a ribbon, and a cash prize. Many special keys, pins, trophies, and other merchandise are provided for members with outstanding projects or who do excellent work with their project.

Other awards are available to members who win in demonstrations, safety speaking, health, recreation and rural arts, superior camping, and in judging contests. Many of these winners become eligible to participate in state contests.

Older 4-H members become eligible then for trips to Jr. Leadership Camp, Conservation Camp, Buckeye Recreation Workshop, and Ohio Club Congress.

All 4-H members are eligible to participate in nearly all 4-H events and compete for the several thousands of dollars worth of trophies, cash, ribbons, trips, and other awards available each year.

Tavern Operator Accused in Death

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Lima man who works days as a hospital porter and nights as a night club entertainer appeared before U.S. Commissioner John J. Barone Wednesday on an income tax charge.

Shellie L. Spencer, 37, of 1228 W. Spring St., is accused of failing to file tax returns for 1954 and 1955 when his income was $8,579. An Internal Revenue Service agent said Spencer had not filed returns from 1942 to 1956, although the case against him is based on only 1954 and 1955.

Barone set bond at $2,000, pending a further hearing.

Spencer is employed as a porter at St. Rita's Hospital in Lima and as a master of ceremonies at Oliver's Night Club.

Regional Cage Berth Spots Up for Grabs

8 District Winners To Be Named Tonight; Middies Await Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school basketball teams will name a fourth of the 32 regional qualifiers tonight as the survivors of the starting field of 1013 squads race toward the state finals here March 20-21.

Middletown's seven-time Class AA champs, looming larger as the payoff nears, have a chance to get into the regional playoffs as they carry their 18 - 4 record against Princeton tonight at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati St. Xavier and Cincinnati Taft, the latter the tourney's Cinderella team with an 8-13 record, meet in the Queen City for the other Class AA regional spot up for decision tonight.

Six of the 16 Class A regionalists will be selected in Friday's firing.

They will come from the Ridgeville vs Pickerington and Prospect vs Lynwood-Jacksontown clashes at Columbus; Racine vs Southwestern at Athens; New Boston vs Lynchburg at Portsmouth; Midvale vs Conotton Valley at Dover, and Maysville vs Old Washington at Marietta.

One of the Columbus winners goes to the Athens regional, the other to Troy. Both Athens winners stay there for next week's event. The Dover winner goes to Canton, and the Marietta winner to Athens.

In an oddity in the lose-and-out series, the losers at Dover and Marietta get a second chance. They will tangle Saturday at Granville to determine which fills out the four-team Class A field at Canton.

Thursday night's games, in which two former state champs were sidelined, left 52 Class AA and 42 Class A squads still in the running. Seven former Class AA champs and six ex-kings in Class A are among them—although three of the Class A winners are now in the larger-school division.

Portsmouth's Trojans, winners in 1931, were handed a 70-63 overtime defeat by Chillicothe at Athens. Arcanum, the little Darke County town which copped the Class A crown in 1956, was ousted 56-47 by Sidney Holy Angels at Springfield. The Sidney squad, sporting a 24-1 record, meets Local (24-0) Saturday for a regional berth at Troy.

Columbus East (1951), New Philadelphia (1940) and Lorain (1923), all former Class AA winners, were Thursday night victors. Columbus East smacked Columbus Central 76-67, New Philadelphia defeated Cambridge 63-46, and Lorain eased past Bay Village 57-51.

Columbiana's Clippers, 1947 Class A victors, also advanced with a 63-61 overtime conquest over Springfield Local.

Twenty-four regional qualifiers, 14 in Class AA and 10 in Class A, will be named in Saturday's heavy state-wide schedule.

The four regional survivors in each division will meet here March 15, to draw for the state tournament.

Pettit Hailed After Setting Cage Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —A rival coach calls him just great.

An opposing player says there isn't a better basketball player around today.

But the fellow to whom they're referring says of himself he still retains a bit of his high school awkwardness and has a lot to learn to improve his game.

He's Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks who Thursday night set a National Basketball Assn. single season scoring record.

Pettit, in his fifth year in the NBA, dumped in 24 points to run his season's total to 2,008, although the Hawks lost to Philadelphia 106-101.

The 26-year-old Baton Rouge, La., native surpassed the previous mark of 2,001 set last year by George Yardley, then with Detroit. He's now with Syracuse. The two are the only NBA players to surpass 2,000 points in one season.

Even the Warriors' victory didn't get them into the Eastern division playoffs. Syracuse laid into the Boston Celtics, 142-118 to clinch the third and last playoff in the Eastern division.

The victory kept Boston from setting an all-time record for season victories. The Celts now have 51. The Nats set a club record for total points as Dolph Schayes scored 25 points, John Kerr 22 and Bob Hopkins 20. Bill Sharman led Boston with 23.

Elgin Baylor scored 32 points to give Minneapolis at least a tie for second place in the West, as the Lakers downed New York 135-115.

Marshall Upsets Miami '5' Giving BeeGees New Life

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bowling Green was happy enough about defeating Marshall College on the basketball court last Saturday. But what the Falcons' followers felt after Marshall won its final game of the season Thursday night was sheer joy.

The reason:

Marshall's 90-79 victory over Miami of Ohio's Redskins enabled Bowling Green to tie Miami for the Mid - American Conference championship.

The Falcons meet the Redskins in a playoff Saturday afternoon in the University of Dayton fieldhouse. The winner advances to the NCAA tournament at Lexington, Ky., as the Mid-American representative.

Both Bowling Green and Miami ended conference play with 9-3 records.

When the Falcons beat Marshall 94-81, it gave Bowling Green a chance to tie for conference laurels. But the Falcons had no say in the outcome. That was their last game.

It was up to Miami. The Redskins had to lose their two remaining games to give Bowling Green a tying chance.

And the Redskins unwillingly accommodated—dropping a 69-65 verdict to Kent State Saturday then bowing before the Thundering Herd Thursday night.

Elsewhere on the Buckeye cage scene:

Capital defeated Heidelberg 65-60 in an Ohio Conference battle; Case Tech won over Western Reserve, 75-58 and Wittenberg, playing in the first game of the NCAA small college division mideast regional basketball tournament at Evansville, Ind., beat Southern Illinois 80-70. Wittenberg meets Evansville tonight for a place in the finals to be played next week.

Dodger Bonus Boy Howard Has Fine Record in Minors

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

VERO BEACH, Fla.—They told us before we talked to him that "you'll get nothing out of him."

That was the understatement of this or any year for Frank Howard, the big bonus guy in the Los Angeles Dodgers' camp here, just doesn't "know nuthin'."

Howard, who reportedly got $100,000 from the Dodgers a year ago when he signed after starring as a basketball-baseball hero at Ohio State, simply floors you in an interview with his lack of knowledge on his career, and his ability as an athlete.

Biggest guy in the Dodgers' camp at 6 feet 6½ inches, an All-American cager at Ohio State and with a fine record in his first year in the minors, Howard plays it real coy as he parries your questions on many subjects of his brilliant athletic career which now has led him to a chance with the Dodgers.

To hear Howard tell it, he was (a) a "nothing" athlete in high school at Columbus South; (b) didn't do much as a basketball star at Ohio State; (c) can't remember how many points he scored; (d) doesn't recall how much bonus he was paid; (e) admits he hit a home run in his major league debut last year but can't remember against which team; (e) didn't do well in training camp with the Dodgers last year; (f) didn't have any big days with Green Bay last season; (g) had no interest in pro basketball; (f) is just an ordinary individual who doesn't "make good copy."

Frank Howard

Lost Angeles writers tell us they gave up on Howard long ago because he always told them "I just don't know nuthin'."

And yet he could be one of the most-publicized athletes in the pro baseball field, based on the bonus he received and the future he may have in the national sport.

From Frank's "nothing" answers and from the grapevine we put together this much of his story:

Born in Columbus, the son of a machinist for a railroad, Frank played basketball and baseball at Columbus South and went to Ohio State, working in the athletic department for his tuition. He still has a semester to go to complete his education and expects to do that. He recently was married to the former Carol Ann Johanski of Green Bay, Wis.

He was a top cage star at Ohio State, was drafted by the Philadelphia Warriors but was more interested in baseball. In the summer of 1957 he played semi-pro baseball in South Dakota and the Dodgers scout in the Kansas area, Bert Wells, signed him just about a year ago for a big bonus.

The Dodgers gave him a look last spring and sent him to Green Bay. In 129 games here he led the league in runs, 104; in home runs, 37, and in runs-batted-in, 119. He finished with a .333 batting average and was brought up to the Dodgers at the end of the season, appearing in eight games and hitting .241 including a home run against a team (the Phillies) he couldn't remember.

Howard is just 22 years old and weighs in at 240 pounds.

Anything else you want to know about him you'll have to find out for yourself.

The guy "just don't know nuthin'."

J. Dennis was the only harness driver to win two straight features at Yonkers Raceway last season. He scored with Model Heir in the Summer Festival trot and with W. D. Direct in the Blue Ribbon Pace.

All-America Cage Team Is Selected

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati—"A greater player this year than last."

Jerry West of West Virginia—"There's no one who can compare to him in all-around ability."

Bob Boozer of Kansas State—"Hardest to stop big man in college basketball."

Bailey Howell of Mississippi State — "Greatest player in the Southeastern Conference Since Bob Pettit."

Johnny Cox of Kentucky—"Best when the going is tough."

These five whizzes of the hardwood were named to the 1959 collegiate basketball All-America by The Associated Press today on the basis of votes from 319 sportswriters and broadcasters throughout the country.

Robertson, the "Big O" who made the All-America last year as a sophomore, again is the top major college scorer, averaging better than 33 points a game.

"He is an all around player offensively and defensively," Cincinnati Coach George Smith says. "He is one of top rebounders in the nation. And with all of that he is a great team player."

West, a junior like Robertson, led West Virginia to its fifth straight Southern Conference title. "I know that without him," says West Virginia Coach Fred Schaus," our team this year wouldn't have gone any place."

Boozer, a senior like Howell and Cox and at 6-8 the tallest man on the first team, led Kansas State to the Big Eight crown.

Tex Winter, K-State coach, declares "Boozer is the hardest to stop big man in college basketball. He has all shots and moves to get open."

Howell, whose season is over because Miss. State will not compete in the NCAA Tournament, shattered the three-year Southeastern Conference scoring mark of 2,002 that Bob Pettit set as an All-America at Louisiana State in 1954.

Babe McCarthy, Miss. State coach, hails Howell as a symbol for young Americans. "Words cannot describe the true genuineness of this great boy. Not only is he a great athlete, he's an All-America in every walk of life."

Cox was in the thick of things when Kentucky won the NCAA championship last season. This season Coach Adolph Rupp built an entirely new team around him.

Don Hennon, of Pitt; Johnny Green of Michigan State; Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame; Leo Byrd of Marshall and Lou Pucillo of North Carolina State were named as a second team. Hennon, a first team All-America last season, missed out this time because of Pitt's poor record. He and Pucillo, at 5-8½ and 5-9, respectively, are the smallest players on the squad.

Jim Hagan of Tennessee Tech; Bob Ferry of St. Louis; Ron Johnson of Minnesota; Joe Ruklick of Northwestern and York Larese of North Carolina were chosen as a third team.

Softball Meeting Planned Sunday

A meeting to lay plans for the coming night softball league at Ted Lewis Park will be held at 6:30 p. m. Sunday on the second floor of the Masonic Temple, S. Court St.

This first of several planned meetings will be conducted by Clyde Derexson, District No. 8 Softball Commissioner.

Derexson urged all interested managers, players and sponsors to attend the preliminary session.

SPORTS BRIEFS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six teams battle for second place in the final games of the Big Ten basketball campaign Saturday.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore fight enthusiasts got the $500,000 word Thursday on what they will have to do to get the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight staged in this city.

CHICAGO (AP) — For the first time since the founding of the American League in 1900, it appeared today that the Chicago White Sox no longer is strictly an enterprise of the Comiskey family.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) —Twelve 3-year-olds go to the post Saturday in the rich Santa Anita Derby and most eyes probably will focus on Silver Spoon, the lone filly in the field.

3 Temperamental Latins Plague Baltimore Manager

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One temperamental Latin would seem to be all that Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, needs to keep his mind occupied these days. But Richards has three, and two of them are still absent from the Orioles' training camp in Miami.

Chico Carrasuel, the Venezuelan shortstop, did manage to make camp six days late. He blamed it on "visa trouble." Carrasuel was traded to Baltimore by Kansas City last fall after six years at Chicago and Cleveland.

Willie Miranda, who has been the Baltimore shortstop since 1955, and Bob Avila, the second sacker who was acquired from Cleveland last December, are missing — whereabouts unknown.

Miranda may not have been the inventor of the "visa trouble" excuse, but he's probably used it more than any other absentee. He has signed his 1959 contract, and presumably is in Cuba.

Avila, the team's only holdout, was thought to be at home in Vera Cruz, Mexico. Roberto was in Havana last month — perhaps getting a fill-in on the Orioles from Senor Miranda. At that time, Avila said he was considering quitting baseball.

Bob Lemon, who won 20 or more games for Cleveland in seven seasons, gave up his comeback ambitions and signed with the Indians as a scout-coach. He pitched part of 1958 for San Diego but was handicapped by arm trouble.

Outfielder Bob Cerv finally signed with the Kansas City Athletics for an estimated $32,000. He had his first workout Wednesday at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Dave Philly agreed to terms with the Philadelphia Phillies. The outfielder was barred from a morning workout at the Phillies' camp in Clearwater, Fla., but later signed his contract. Terms were not announced.

Another Cuban pitcher, Pedro Ramos, arrived at the Washington Senators' Orlando, Fla., camp and signed his contract.

Thirty-seven former University of Alabama athletes have played major league baseball since 1909.

Now one physical examination for Life Insurance carries you through the years!

As we advance in age every man sooner or later will cross the line of insurability when he can no longer buy life insurance, or must pay higher rates for it.

Now . . . for the first time a revolutionary new idea that guarantees your "insurability" to age 40 . . . gives you the right to buy added insurance at standard rates, REGARDLESS OF HEALTH.

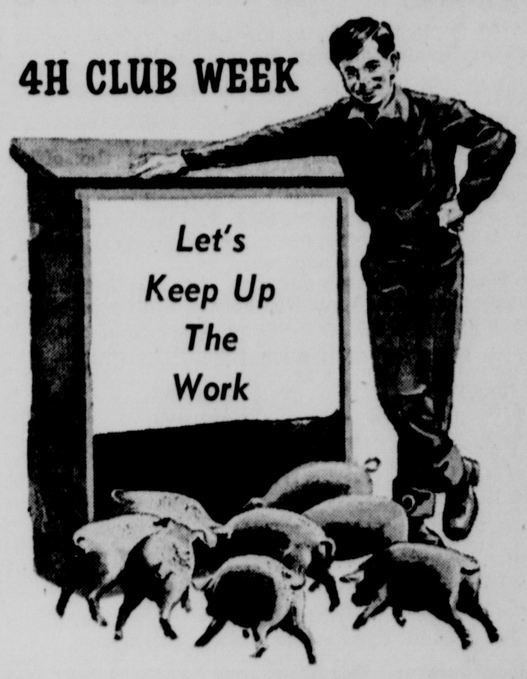

This new concept was introduced by Bankers Life Company. It is designed to answer the age-old insurance question: "When I need more insurance and can afford it—will I be able to get it?"

Think what this means to the man just starting out in the business world . . . the young doctor . . . lawyer . . . men who know they will want more life insurance as they "grow". For only pennies-a-day more than the cost of an ordinary plan they can NOW guarantee the right to buy additional insurance later — REGARDLESS OF HEALTH.

Let me tell you all about this exciting new life insurance concept. Call me today.

Regional Cage Berth Spots Up for Grabs

8 District Winners To Be Named Tonight; Middies Await Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school basketball teams will name a fourth of the 32 regional qualifiers tonight as the survivors of the starting field of 1013 squads race toward the state finals here March 20-21.

Middletown's seven-time Class AA champs, looming larger as the payoff nears, have a chance to get into the regional playoffs as they carry their 18 - 4 record against Princeton tonight at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati St. Xavier and Cincinnati Taft, the latter the tourney's Cinderella team with an 8-13 record, meet in the Queen City for the other Class AA regional spot up for decision tonight.

Six of the 16 Class A regionalists will be selected in Friday's firing.

They will come from the Ridgeville vs Pickerington and Prospect vs Lynwood-Jacksontown clashes at Columbus; Racine vs Southwestern at Athens; New Boston vs Lynchburg at Portsmouth; Midvale vs Conotton Valley at Dover, and Maysville vs Old Washington at Marietta.

One of the Columbus winners goes to the Athens regional, the other to Troy. Both Athens winners stay there for next week's event. The Dover winner goes to Canton, and the Marietta winner to Athens.

In an oddity in the lose-and-out series, the losers at Dover and Marietta get a second chance. They will tangle Saturday at Granville to determine which fills out the four-team Class A field at Canton.

Thursday night's games, in which two former state champs were sidelined, left 52 Class AA and 42 Class A squads still in the running. Seven former Class AA champs and six ex-kings in Class A are among them—although three of the Class A winners are now in the larger-school division.

Portsmouth's Trojans, winners in 1931, were handed a 70-63 overtime defeat by Chillicothe at Athens. Arcanum, the little Darke County town which copped the Class A crown in 1956, was ousted 56-47 by Sidney Holy Angels at Springfield. The Sidney squad, sporting a 24-1 record, meets Local (24-0) Saturday for a regional berth at Troy.

Columbus East (1951), New Philadelphia (1940) and Lorain (1923), all former Class AA winners, were Thursday night victors. Columbus East smacked Columbus Central 76-67, New Philadelphia defeated Cambridge 63-46, and Lorain eased past Bay Village 57-51.

Columbiana's Clippers, 1947 Class A victors, also advanced with a 63-61 overtime conquest over Springfield Local.

Twenty-four regional qualifiers, 14 in Class AA and 10 in Class A, will be named in Saturday's heavy state-wide schedule.

The four regional survivors in each division will meet here March 15, to draw for the state tournament.

Pettit Hailed After Setting Cage Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —A rival coach calls him just great.

An opposing player says there isn't a better basketball player around today.

But the fellow to whom they're referring says of himself he still retains a bit of his high school awkwardness and has a lot to learn to improve his game.

He's Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks who Thursday night set a National Basketball Assn. single season scoring record.

Pettit, in his fifth year in the NBA, dumped in 24 points to run his season's total to 2,008, although the Hawks lost to Philadelphia 106-101.

The 26-year-old Baton Rouge, La., native surpassed the previous mark of 2,001 set last year by George Yardley, then with Detroit. He's now with Syracuse. The two are the only NBA players to surpass 2,000 points in one season.

Even the Warriors' victory didn't get them into the Eastern division playoffs. Syracuse laid into the Boston Celtics, 142-118 to clinch the third and last playoff in the Eastern division.

The victory kept Boston from setting an all-time record for season victories. The Celts now have 51. The Nats set a club record for total points as Dolph Schayes scored 25 points, John Kerr 22 and Bob Hopkins 20. Bill Sharman led Boston with 23.

Elgin Baylor scored 32 points to give Minneapolis at least a tie for second place in the West, as the Lakers downed New York 135-115.

Jimmie Coker, Philadelphia's rookie catcher, broke into organized ball with Mattoon, Ill., in the Class D Missouri-Ohio Valley League with two homers in 1955. His second won the game in the 11th.

Marshall Upsets Miami '5' Giving BeeGees New Life

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bowling Green was happy enough about defeating Marshall College on the basketball court last Saturday. But what the Falcons' followers felt after Marshall won its final game of the season Thursday night was sheer joy.

The reason:

Marshall's 90-79 victory over Miami of Ohio's Redskins enabled Bowling Green to tie Miami for the Mid - American Conference championship.

The Falcons meet the Redskins in a playoff Saturday afternoon in the University of Dayton fieldhouse. The winner advances to the NCAA tournament at Lexington, Ky., as the Mid-American representative.

Both Bowling Green and Miami ended conference play with 9-3 records.

When the Falcons beat Marshall 94-81, it gave Bowling Green a chance to tie for conference laurels. But the Falcons had no say in the outcome. That was their last game.

It was up to Miami. The Redskins had to lose their two remaining games to give Bowling Green a tying chance.

And the Redskins unwillingly accommodated—dropping a 69-65 verdict to Kent State Saturday then bowing before the Thundering Herd Thursday night.

The Marshall victory gave Bowling Green its first co-championship. Miami shared conference honors with Western Michigan in 1952, and won the title outright in 1953, 1955, 1957 and 1958.

Elsewhere on the Buckeye cage scene:

Capital defeated Heidelberg 65-60 in an Ohio Conference battle; Case Tech won over Western Reserve, 75-58 and Wittenberg, playing in the first game of the NCAA small college division mideast regional basketball tournament at Evansville, Ind., beat Southern Illinois 80-70. Wittenberg meets Evansville tonight for a place in the finals to be played next week.

Dodger Bonus Boy Howard Has Fine Record in Minors

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

VERO BEACH, Fla.—They told us before we talked to him that "you'll get nothing out of him."

That was the understatement of this or any year for Frank Howard, the big bonus guy in the Los Angeles Dodgers' camp here, just doesn't "know nuthin'."

Howard, who reportedly got $100,000 from the Dodgers a year ago when he signed after starring as a basketball-baseball hero at Ohio State, simply floors you in an interview with his lack of knowledge on his career, and his ability as an athlete.

Biggest guy in the Dodgers' camp at 6 feet 6½ inches, an All-American cager at Ohio State and with a fine record in his first year in the minors, Howard plays it real coy as he parries your questions on many subjects of his brilliant athletic career which now has led him to a chance with the Dodgers.

To hear Howard tell it, he was (a) a "nothing" athlete in high school at Columbus South; (b) didn't do much as a basketball star at Ohio State; (c) can't remember how many points he scored; (d) doesn't recall how much bonus he was paid; (e) admits he hit a home run in his major league debut last year but can't remember against which team; (e) didn't do well in training camp with the Dodgers last year; (f) didn't have any big days with Green Bay last season; (g) had no interest in pro basketball; (f) is just an ordinary individual who doesn't "make good copy."

Frank Howard

Lost Angeles writers tell us they gave up on Howard long ago because he always told them "I just don't know nuthin'."

And yet he could be one of the most-publicized athletes in the pro baseball field, based on the bonus he received and the future he may have in the national sport.

From Frank's "nothing" answers and from the grapevine we put together this much of his story:

Born in Columbus, the son of a machinist for a railroad, Frank played basketball and baseball at Columbus South and went to Ohio State, working in the athletic department for his tuition. He still has a semester to go to complete his education and expects to do that. He recently was married to the former Carol Ann Johanski of Green Bay, Wis.

He was a top cage star at Ohio State, was drafted by the Philadelphia Warriors but was more interested in baseball. In the summer of 1957 he played semi-pro baseball in South Dakota and the Dodgers scout in the Kansas area, Bert Wells, signed him just about a year ago for a big bonus.

The Dodgers gave him a look last spring and sent him to Green Bay. In 129 games here he led the league in runs, 104; in home runs, 37, and in runs-batted-in, 119. He finished with a .333 batting average and was brought up to the Dodgers at the end of the season, appearing in eight games and hitting .241 including a home run against a team (the Phillies) he couldn't remember.

Howard is just 22 years old and weighs in at 240 pounds.

Anything else you want to know about him you'll have to find out for yourself.

The guy "just don't know nuthin'."

J. Dennis was the only harness driver to win two straight features at Yonkers Raceway last season. He scored with Model Heir in the Summer Festival trot and with W. D. Direct in the Blue Ribbon Pace.

All-America Cage Team Is Selected

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati—"A greater player this year than last."

Jerry West of West Virginia—"There's no one who can compare to him in all-around ability."

Bob Boozer of Kansas State—"Hardest to stop big man in college basketball."

Bailey Howell of Mississippi State — "Greatest player in the Southeastern Conference Since Bob Pettit."

Johnny Cox of Kentucky—"Best when the going is tough."

These five whizzes of the hardwood were named to the 1959 collegiate basketball All-America by The Associated Press today on the basis of votes from 319 sports-writers and broadcasters throughout the country.

Robertson, the "Big O" who made the All-America last year as a sophomore, again is the top major college scorer, averaging better than 33 points a game.

"He is an all around player offensively and defensively," Cincinnati Coach George Smith says. "He is one of top rebounders in the nation. And with all of that he is a great team player."

West, a junior like Robertson, led West Virginia to its fifth straight Southern Conference title. "I know that without him," says West Virginia Coach Fred Schaus," our team this year wouldn't have gone any place."

Boozer, a senior like Howell and Cox and at 6-8 the tallest man on the first team, led Kansas State to the Big Eight crown.

Tex Winter, K-State coach, declares "Boozer is the hardest to stop big man in college basketball. He has all shots and moves to get open."

Howell, whose season is over because Miss. State will not compete in the NCAA Tournament, shattered the three-year Southeastern Conference scoring mark of 2,002 that Bob Pettit set as an All-America at Louisiana State in 1954.

Babe McCarthy, Miss. State coach, hails Howell as a symbol for young Americans. "Words cannot describe the true genuineness of this great boy. Not only is he a great athlete, he's an All-America in every walk of life."

Cox was in the thick of things when Kentucky won the NCAA championship last season. This season Coach Adolph Rupp built an entirely new team around him.

Don Hennon, of Pitt; Johnny Green of Michigan State; Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame; Leo Byrd of Marshall and Lou Pucillo of North Carolina State were named as a second team. Hennon, a first team All-America last season, missed out this time because of Pitt's poor record. He and Pucillo, at 5-8½ and 5-9, respectively, are the smallest players on the squad.

Jim Hagan of Tennessee Tech; Bob Ferry of St. Louis; Ron Johnson of Minnesota; Joe Ruklick of Northwestern and York Larese of North Carolina were chosen as a third team.

Softball Meeting Planned Sunday

A meeting to lay plans for the coming night softball league at Ted Lewis Park will be held at 6:30 p. m. Sunday on the second floor of the Masonic Temple, S. Court St.

This first of several planned meetings will be conducted by Clyde Derexson, District No. 8 Softball Commissioner.

Derexson urged all interested managers, players and sponsors to attend the preliminary session.

SPORTS BRIEFS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six teams battle for second place in the final games of the Big Ten basketball campaign Saturday.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore fight enthusiasts got the $500,000 word Thursday on what they will have to do to get the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight staged in this city.

CHICAGO (AP) — For the first time since the founding of the American League in 1900, it appeared today that the Chicago White Sox no longer is strictly an enterprise of the Comiskey family.

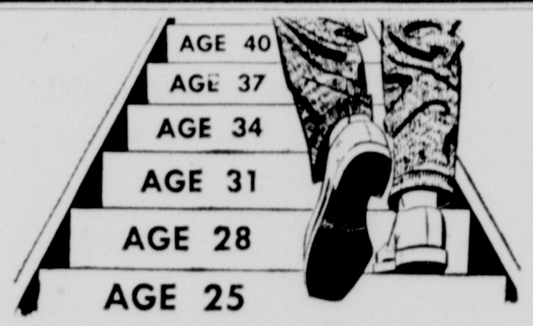

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) —Twelve 3-year-olds go to the post Saturday in the rich Santa Anita Derby and most eyes probably will focus on Silver Spoon, the lone filly in the field.

Now one physical examination for Life Insurance carries you through the years!

As we advance in age every man sooner or later will cross the line of insurability when he can no longer buy life insurance, or must pay higher rates for it.

Now . . . for the first time a revolutionary new idea that guarantees your "insurability" to age 40 . . . gives you the right to buy added insurance at standard rates, REGARDLESS OF HEALTH.

This new concept was introduced by Bankers Life Company. It is designed to answer the age-old insurance question: "When I need more insurance and can afford it—will I be able to get it?"

Think what this means to the man just starting out in the business world . . . the young doctor . . . lawyer . . . men who know they will want more life insurance as they "grow". For only pennies-a-day more than the cost of an ordinary plan they can NOW guarantee the right to buy additional insurance later — REGARDLESS OF HEALTH.

Let me tell you all about this exciting new life insurance concept. Call me today.

3 Temperamental Latins Plague Baltimore Manager

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One temperamental Latin would seem to be all that Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, needs to keep his mind occupied these days. But Richards has three, and two of them are still absent from the Orioles' training camp in Miami.

Chico Carrasuel, the Venezuelan shortstop, did manage to make camp six days late. He blamed it on "visa trouble." Carrasuel was traded to Baltimore by Kansas City last fall after six years at Chicago and Cleveland.

Willie Miranda, who has been the Baltimore shortstop since 1955, and Bob Avila, the second sacker who was acquired from Cleveland last December, are missing — whereabouts unknown.

Miranda may not have been the inventor of the "visa trouble" excuse, but he's probably used it more than any other absentee. He has signed his 1959 contract, and presumably is in Cuba.

Avila, the team's only holdout, was thought to be at home in Vera Cruz, Mexico. Roberto was in Havana last month — perhaps getting a fill-in on the Orioles from Senor Miranda. At that time, Avila said he was considering quitting baseball.

Bob Lemon, who won 20 or more games for Cleveland in seven seasons, gave up his comeback ambitions and signed with the Indians as a scout-coach. He pitched part of 1958 for San Diego but was handicapped by arm trouble.

Outfielder Bob Cerv finally signed with the Kansas City Athletics for an estimated $32,000. He had his first workout Wednesday at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Dave Philly agreed to terms with the Philadelphia Phillies. The outfielder was barred from a morning workout at the Phillies' camp in Clearwater, Fla., but later signed his contract. Terms were not announced.

Another Cuban pitcher, Pedro Ramos, arrived at the Washington Senators' Orlando, Fla., camp and signed his contract.

Thirty-seven former University of Alabama athletes have played major league baseball since 1909.

Now! Shift on-the-go to any speed!

NEW FORD SELECT-O-SPEED

Hydraulic power does the actual shifting, but it's controlled by this handy lever under the steering wheel. A light touch is all you need to shift to any gear — 10 speeds forward, 2 reverse—at any time.

Now — finger-tip, clutchless shifting with hydraulic power doing all the work! For the first time, you can shift on-the-go to any speed you want, any power you need, by a simple touch of your finger. Now you can match pull-power and speed exactly, instantly, to changing field conditions. And what's more, independent PTO engages or disengages on-the-go, too, to save time and speed PTO work. With clutchless power shifting and independent PTO, you'll do more work and cover more acres. Come in and test drive a Ford Select-O-Speed tractor soon —see what it can do for you!

NEW FORD SELECT-O-SPEED

Hydraulic power does the actual shifting, but it's controlled by this handy lever under the steering wheel. A light touch is all you need to shift to any gear — 10 speeds forward, 2 reverse—at any time.

Now — finger-tip, clutchless shifting with hydraulic power doing all the work! For the first time, you can shift on-the-go to any speed you want, any power you need, by a simple touch of your finger. Now you can match pull-power and speed exactly, instantly, to changing field conditions. And what's more, independent PTO engages or disengages on-the-go, too, to save time and speed PTO work. With clutchless power shifting and independent PTO, you'll do more work and cover more acres. Come in and test drive a Ford Select-O-Speed tractor soon —see what it can do for you!

Dial Twisting Governed By His Present Mood

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Radio-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — You can talk yourself blue in the face about what's good and what's bad on television, but when the time comes to twist the dial you ask yourself: Am I in the mood to look at this—or that?

Looking over the coming week, for example (all times eastern standard):

Sunday at 2 p.m. another in the NBC "Wisdom" series presents a conversation with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She always has something interesting to say, so if you're in the mood to listen you know where to find her.

At 5 on Sunday NBC Opera presents an original Gian Carlo Menotti opera, "Maria Golovin." The story of the two-hour opera concerns a blind former prisoner of war who falls in love with the wife of a man imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain. This is worthwhile television programming.

I know I'll be in the mood to watch "Small World" on CBS at 6 when Edward R. Murrow discusses the movie industry and the role of its critics with Ingrid Bergman from Paris, Darryl Zanuck from Hollywood and Bosley Crowther, movie critic of the New York Times.

I also plan to look at the second part of "Generation Without A Cause" on "20th Century" over CBS at 6:30.

"G. E. Theater" is offering something that sounds "different" Sunday at 9 on CBS when Harpo and Chico Marx appear in "The Incredible Jewel Robbery." There's no dialogue; it's all in pantomime.

With spring in the air the circus won't be far behind. In fact, it appears on Monday at 7:30 over ABC with Ernie Kovacs serving as ringmaster in a one-hour performance by the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus from Charlotte, N.C.

The show of the week I look forward to most is the first part of "For Whom the Bell Tolls" on "Playhouse 90" over CBS Thursday at 9:30 p.m. The adaptation of Ernest Hemingway's novel will star Maria Schell, Jason Robards Jr., Maureen Stapleton, Eli Wallach. This taped production is by far the most ambitious of the year.

Nation Proud Of Fine Work Done by 4-H

This is National 4-H Club Week—a time for pointing up the accomplishments of two million two hundred thousand 4-H members across the country.

It also is a time for honoring 4-H parents and local volunteer leaders, for saluting the 20,000,000 4-H "alumni" now graduated from the program, and for thanking the business groups and individuals who provide support for club work. All these people give freely of their knowledge, time and energy because they believe 4-H is one of the world's greatest youth-training programs and they want to share in it.

Repeatedly over the years, 4-H has demonstrated an almost magic formula for turning out competant, conscientious young citizens. And in a world where the struggle for freedom is far from won, these earnest, self-reliant boys and girls are our greatest hope.

They, and others like them in other lands, can build the bridges of understanding that lead to peace and world progress. Today we are proud to honor the 4-H members and 4-H alumni for their outstanding contributions to the welfare of America.

Spring Accessories To Follow Figure

Clothing accessories this spring have as a background clothes that follow the figure, have shorter skirts, both full and slim, and have large collars that follow the face, says Mrs. Orena Haynes, Extension Clothing Specialist at the Ohio State University.

Choose accessories for multiple purpose combinations, says the specialist, keeping in mind the entire wardrobe. New items for spring include longer gloves, but nothing is smarter than short, crisp, white cotton gloves. Pins are important news. They are being placed on collars, at waistlines, or on belts. Colors range from bright cut stones to brushed gold and often are in flower designs or geometric shapes.

Handbags for spring tend to be small, wide and take soft shapes, often with shirring. Hats for the teenager can be of any choice, but the favored shape will be high. Teenagers should choose one that is becoming and looks well with their outfits.

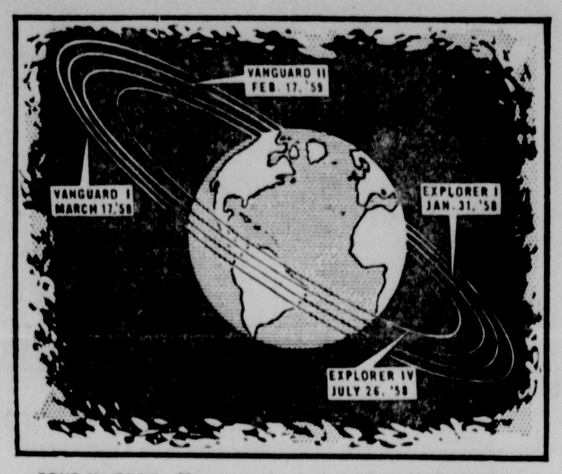

Spring is the traditional season for black patent shoes. Generally shoes will be tapered but not as pointed as last year. They will have the open look with cut-away sides and vamps. Many colored leathers will be available to match or contrast with costumes. Fabric shoes will offer patterned materials.

Stoles are back in fashion in all sizes and fabrics. For casual wear, a bulky stole wrapped chin high and draped over one shoulder will be in style. Stockings will give a hint of color to the costume. Deep-toned shades should be avoided, Mrs. Haynes says.

Driver Is Cited For Intoxication

Joe S. Alkire, 22, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was cited into Circleville Municipal Court today on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Alkire was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months. He was arrested by city police.

Projects Are Basis of 4-H

4-H club projects are the basis around which many 4-H activities arise. If club members have dress projects, then training is provided for this member in dress construction. The member can learn how to model a dress, participate in county judging, or even give a demonstration concerning her project.

Nearly 300 girls in Pickaway County completed projects in sewing. The projects varied from the small towel or apron to a complete costume including dress, coat, and accessories. Other girls learned about foods, planning meals, making all kinds of dishes, preparing beverages, and outdoor cookery. (Canning and freezing are available as 4-H projects.) Projects in nutrition are available for all ages of girls or boys.

Many girls take other projects including those in flower gardening, child care, personality, and first aid to name a few.

If you are interested in joining a 4-H club you should contact the local leader in your community now, during National 4-H club week. If you do not know this person, contact the Agricultural Extension Service at 159½ E. Main St. in Circleville for additional information.

Livestock Is Vital In 4-H

Most boys who enroll in 4-H club work do so to be able to exhibit their livestock at the county fair. Many other projects are available beside livestock, which some boys take since they do not have space to keep livestock.

The most popular 4-H project besides livestock is electricity. Boys or girls may take three or more years of this project. Other projects include tractor, woodworking, trees, conservation, birds, bugs (entomology), and auto care.

Last year Pickaway County 4-H members completed 107 dairy projects, 86 beef projects, 146 swine projects, and 127 sheep projects. Other livestock projects which are available include horses, ponies, rabbits, poultry, and ducks.

If you are interested in being a 4-H member, contact your local leader during National 4-H Club week. If you do not know your local advisor, contact the Agriculture Extension Service at 159½ East Main Street in Circleville.

Antarctica Believed Made Up of Islands

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, just back from 16 months at the South Pole, says he believes research will show that Antarctica is not a continent but a series of islands.

Father Birkenhauer, who operated a seismological station at Wilkes Station, qualified this to say these would be "hypothetical kinds of islands—they would only be islands if the ice melted."

For the last 10 years, he said, "we had suspected that this was not a continent. Now, the men of California Institute of Technology, who were at Wilkes Station, speak of the island theory, and my research, I am sure, will bear them out."

The Jesuit priest, dean of the Graduate School at John Carroll University here, made complex studies of surface waves to determine the earth's structure. Knowing the structure of the antarctic area would help scientists answer one question that has intrigued many: How high would the oceans rise if a temperature change should melt the polar ice?

Father Birkenhauer said there is solid ice down to the rock surface in Antarctica.

One hazard was the whiteout, a white fog that reduces visibility to zero.

"Once we were out in a weazel," he said, "and there was a whiteout. They told us when there was a whiteout to stop, don't go on. My guardian angel must have been watching. I suddenly got out and looked, and there a few feet in front was a 100-foot cliff waiting for us."

The priest said he is not eager to go back but added that polar living "has a tremendous fascination."

Fleeing Convict Frees Trio After Dash Through Alabama

FLAT ROCK, Ala. (AP) — A fleeing convict freed a state patrolman, a married couple and a fellow convict near this north Alabama town early today after holding them hostage more than 12 hours.

The convict, William E. Smothers, continued his desperate bid for freedom in the married couple's car. The highway patrol said he was believed heading for Chattanooga, Tenn., where he has relatives.

Smothers, serving 160 years in prison on six robbery convictions, overpowered the patrolman and a trusty convict in a police car south of Birmingham Thursday.

"He used a key he made himself to unlock his handcuffs in the back seat of the car," said Patrolman Otto Dees.

"He was in the back seat and I was in the front. He got a strangle hold on me and held a piece of steel against me and took my gun."

Then, Dees said, Smothers ordered the trusty, Ted Easley, a convicted killer serving 25 years, to drive to the home of Smothers' sister, Mrs. Fulton Weems, at Birmingham, where Smothers got a suit and $10.

"Then we just drove around a while," Dees said, "until Smothers spotted a car parked in front of a house."

The three went inside the house and ordered Mr. and Mrs. Noel Keith to go with them in the Keith car. They left the police car parked behind the Keith house.

"All the time I kept trying to talk him out of it," Dees said. "I was afraid to try anything because of the Keiths being in the car."

Easley also tried to talk Smothers into giving up the idea of escaping, Dees said.

From Birmingham, Smothers and his four hostages, held at the point of Dees' revolver, headed north.

Near the tiny town of Flat Rock, Smothers ordered them to stop on the highway and told them to get out.

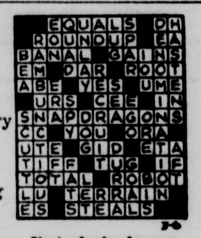

Dees, Easley and the Keiths walked to a farm house and telephoned state patrol headquarters.

At the time of his break, Smothers was being taken from Kilby Prison at Montgomery, Ala., to Birmingham to face trial on a charge of possessing a gun after conviction on a felony.

Property Tax Due April 30

On or before April 30, 1959 all individuals, partnerships, associations, and corporations engaged in business, such as manufacturers, merchants, farmers, lawyers, doctors, dentists, accountants, and others, are required to file personal property tax returns with the Pickaway County Auditor.

All residents of Ohio owning intangible property, regardless of its use, such as stocks, bonds, notes, debentures, credit balances with brokers, and other intangible property, are also required to file returns with the county auditor.

Individuals, partnerships, corporations, and associations must file returns with the county auditor in each county where they own taxable property. Mandatory penalties and additional charges are provided by statute for the filing of returns after April 30, 1959.

The rate of tax on tangible property varies from locality to locality according to need and is identical with the rate of real estate and public utility property for a given taxing district.

* * *

REGARDING intangible property, productive investments are taxed at five per cent of the income yield, unproductive investments are taxed at two mills on each dollar valuation, and deposits two mills on the dollar. Moneys, credits and other taxable intangibles are taxed at three mills on each dollar valuation.

All tax collected is paid to the local county treasurer and is used for local schools, libraries, health, police and fire services. Last year the tax paid to the county treasurers on personal property was approximately $155 million and the tax paid on intangible property was approximately $31 million.

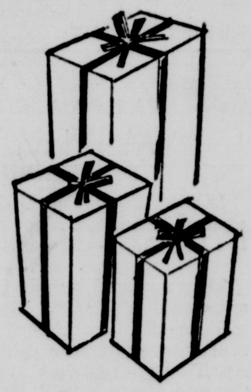

Personal property tax forms for filing returns are to be obtained from the county auditor's office and information as to the provisions of the law may be obtained from your county auditor or from the Ohio Department of Taxation, Columbus.

Chevy stops quickest... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!

Nation Proud Of Fine Work Done by 4-H

This is National 4-H Club Week—a time for pointing up the accomplishments of two million two hundred thousand 4-H members across the country.

It also is a time for honoring 4-H parents and local volunteer leaders, for saluting the 20,000,000 4-H "alumni" now graduated from the program, and for thanking the business groups and individuals who provide support for club work. All these people give freely of their knowledge, time and energy because they believe 4-H is one of the world's greatest youth-training programs and they want to share in it.

Repeatedly over the years, 4-H has demonstrated an almost magic formula for turning out competant, conscientious young citizens. And in a world where the struggle for freedom is far from won, these earnest, self-reliant boys and girls are our greatest hope.

They, and others like them in other lands, can build the bridges of understanding that lead to peace and world progress. Today we are proud to honor the 4-H members and 4-H alumni for their outstanding contributions to the welfare of America.

Spring Accessories To Follow Figure

Clothing accessories this spring have as a background clothes that follow the figure, have shorter skirts, both full and slim, and have large collars that follow the face, says Mrs. Orena Haynes, Extension Clothing Specialist at the Ohio State University.

Choose accessories for multiple purpose combinations, says the specialist, keeping in mind the entire wardrobe. New items for spring include longer gloves, but nothing is smarter than short, crisp, white cotton gloves. Pins are important news. They are being placed on collars, at waistlines, or on belts. Colors range from bright cut stones to brushed gold and often are in flower designs or geometric shapes.

Handbags for spring tend to be small, wide and take soft shapes, often with shirring. Hats for the teenager can be of any choice, but the favored shape will be high. Teenagers should choose one that is becoming and looks well with their outfits.

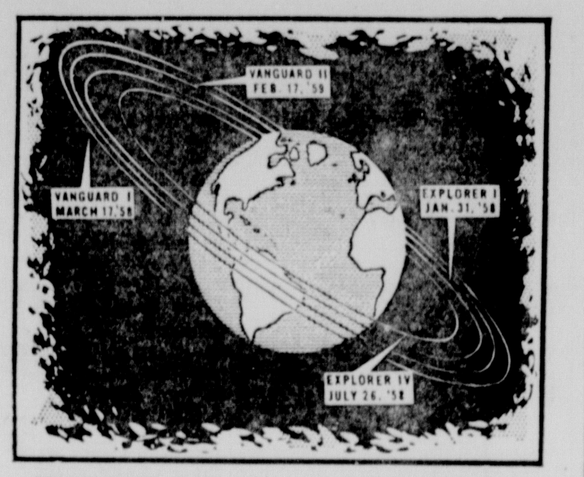

Spring is the traditional season for black patent shoes. Generally shoes will be tapered but not as pointed as last year. They will have the open look with cut-away sides and vamps. Many colored leathers will be available to match or contrast with costumes. Fabric shoes will offer patterned materials.

Stoles are back in fashion in all sizes and fabrics. For casual wear, a bulky stole wrapped chin high and draped over one shoulder will be in style. Stockings will give a hint of color to the costume. Deep-toned shades should be avoided, Mrs. Haynes says.

Driver Is Cited For Intoxication

Joe S. Alkire, 22, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was cited into Circleville Municipal Court today on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Alkire was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months. He was arrested by city police.

Projects Are Basis of 4-H

4-H club projects are the basis around which many 4-H activities arise. If club members have dress projects, then training is provided for this member in dress construction. The member can learn how to model a dress, participate in county judging, or even give a demonstration concerning her project.

Nearly 300 girls in Pickaway County completed projects in sewing. The projects varied from the small towel or apron to a complete costume including dress, coat, and accessories. Other girls learned about foods, planning meals, making all kinds of dishes, preparing beverages, and outdoor cookery. (Canning and freezing are available as 4-H projects.) Projects in nutrition are available for all ages of girls or boys.

Many girls take other projects including those in flower gardening, child care, personality, and first aid to name a few.

If you are interested in joining a 4-H club you should contact the local leader in your community now, during National 4-H club week. If you do not know this person, contact the Agricultural Extension Service at 159½ E. Main St. in Circleville for additional information.

Livestock Is Vital In 4-H

Most boys who enroll in 4-H club work do so to be able to exhibit their livestock at the county fair. Many other projects are available beside livestock, which some boys take since they do not have space to keep livestock.

The most popular 4-H project besides livestock is electricity. Boys or girls may take three or more years of this project. Other projects include tractor, woodworking, trees, conservation, birds, bugs (entomology), and auto care.

Last year Pickaway County 4-H members completed 107 dairy projects, 86 beef projects, 146 swine projects, and 127 sheep projects. Other livestock projects which are available include horses, ponies, rabbits, poultry, and ducks.

If you are interested in being a 4-H member, contact your local leader during National 4-H Club week. If you do not know your local advisor, contact the Agriculture Extension Service at 159½ East Main Street in Circleville.

Antarctica Believed Made Up of Islands

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, just back from 16 months at the South Pole, says he believes research will show that Antarctica is not a continent but a series of islands.

Father Birkenhauer, who operated a seismological station at Wilkes Station, qualified this to say these would be "hypothetical kinds of islands—they would only be islands if the ice melted."

For the last 10 years, he said, "we had suspected that this was not a continent. Now, the men of California Institute of Technology, who were at Wilkes Station, speak of the island theory, and my research, I am sure, will bear them out."

The Jesuit priest, dean of the Graduate School at John Carroll University here, made complex studies of surface waves to determine the earth's structure. Knowing the structure of the antarctic area would help scientists answer one question that has intrigued many: How high would the oceans rise if a temperature change should melt the polar ice?

Father Birkenhauer said there is solid ice down to the rock surface in Antarctica.

One hazard was the whiteout, a white fog that reduces visibility to zero.

"Once we were out in a weazel," he said, "and there was a whiteout. They told us when there was a whiteout to stop, don't go on. My guardian angel must have been watching. I suddenly got out and looked, and there a few feet in front was a 100-foot cliff waiting for us."

The priest said he is not eager to go back but added that polar living "has a tremendous fascination."

Fleeing Convict Frees Trio After Dash Through Alabama

FLAT ROCK, Ala. (AP) — A fleeing convict freed a state patrolman, a married couple and a fellow convict near this north Alabama town early today after holding them hostage more than 12 hours.

The convict, William E. Smothers, continued his desperate bid for freedom in the married couple's car. The highway patrol said he was believed heading for Chattanooga, Tenn., where he has relatives.

Smothers, serving 160 years in prison on six robbery convictions, overpowered the patrolman and a trusty convict in a police car south of Birmingham Thursday.

"He used a key he made himself to unlock his handcuffs in the back seat of the car," said Patrolman Otto Dees.

"He was in the back seat and I was in the front. He got a strangle hold on me and held a piece of steel against me and took my gun."

Then, Dees said, Smothers ordered the trusty, Ted Easley, a convicted killer serving 25 years, to drive to the home of Smothers' sister, Mrs. Fulton Weems, at Birmingham, where Smothers got a suit and $10.

"Then we just drove around a while," Dees said, "until Smothers spotted a car parked in front of a house."

The three went inside the house and ordered Mr. and Mrs. Noel Keith to go with them in the Keith car. They left the police car parked behind the Keith house.

"All the time I kept trying to talk him out of it," Dees said. "I was afraid to try anything because of the Keiths being in the car."

Easley also tried to talk Smothers into giving up the idea of escaping, Dees said.

From Birmingham, Smothers and his four hostages, held at the point of Dees' revolver, headed north.

Near the tiny town of Flat Rock, Smothers ordered them to stop on the highway and told them to get out.

Dees, Easley and the Keiths walked to a farm house and telephoned state patrol headquarters.

At the time of his break, Smothers was being taken from Kilby Prison at Montgomery, Ala., to Birmingham to face trial on a charge of possessing a gun after conviction on a felony.

Impala Sport Coupe—like every Chevy—has Safety Plate Glass all around.

Chevy stops quickest ... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!

Property Tax Due April 30

On or before April 30, 1959 all individuals, partnerships, associations, and corporations engaged in business, such as manufacturers, merchants, farmers, lawyers, doctors, dentists, accountants, and others, are required to file personal property tax returns with the Pickaway County Auditor.

All residents of Ohio owning intangible property, regardless of its use, such as stocks, bonds, notes, debentures, credit balances with brokers, and other intangible property, are also required to file returns with the county auditor.

Individuals, partnerships, corporations, and associations must file returns with the county auditor in each county where they own taxable property. Mandatory penalties and additional charges are provided by statute for the filing of returns after April 30, 1959.

The rate of tax on tangible property varies from locality to locality according to need and is identical with the rate of real estate and public utility property for a given taxing district.

* * *

REGARDING intangible property, productive investments are taxed at five per cent of the income yield, unproductive investments are taxed at two mills on each dollar valuation, and deposits two mills on the dollar. Moneys, credits and other taxable intangibles are taxed at three mills on each dollar valuation.

All tax collected is paid to the local county treasurer and is used for local schools, libraries, health, police and fire services. Last year the tax paid to the county treasurers on personal property was approximately $155 million and the tax paid on intangible property was approximately $31 million.

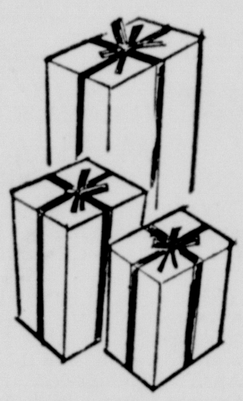

Personal property tax forms for filing returns are to be obtained from the county auditor's office and information as to the provisions of the law may be obtained from your county auditor or from the Ohio Department of Taxation, Columbus.
